Ike and Herter on Way To Western 'Summit'

Touring President Greeted By 21-Gun Salute at Toulon Harbor; Boards Paris Train

En Route with Eisenhower — President Eisenhower and his secretary of state, Christian A. Herter, conferred on world problems today aboard a train moving through the French countryside.

The president and his foreign policy advisor were closeted in the president's car as the train sped him from Toulon to Paris, where he will attend a meeting of the western summit.

As the train swept vast vineyards and rich fields few people even realized that President Eisenhower was aboard. French security precautions barred people from stations along the route and the split-second timetable was kept secret. A few who had waited for a glimpse of the president waved at the train as it sped past small towns.

Looked Cheerful
The president looked fit and cheerful after his 6-day Mediterranean cruise. An echoing 21-gun salute greeted the U. S. heavy cruiser Des Moines as she brought the president into Toulon harbor, and French sailors snapped to attention as the president stepped down the gangway to French soil.

Brightly decked small boats criss-crossed the Mediterranean harbor and the sailors of the French fleet lined the rails of their warships to render honors to the president. A bright sun glistened off the spic and span vessels and a few fluffy clouds floated lazily overhead. A brisk wind whipped the ships' pennants. The temperature was about 55 degrees.

Sabers Flash
French Minister of State Louis Jacquinot welcomed the president to France on behalf of President Charles de Gaulle.

"France first came to our aid in 1777," Eisenhower said in reply. "The underlying affection and respect of the two nations each for the other has never stopped."

"I am once again privileged to visit the lovely country of France and privileged to

Tax Reform Group To Hear Proposals

Most Significant Item Expected To be Recommendation for Type Of Modified Sales Taxation

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — The state revenue study commission Monday will come to grips with the most comprehensive tax reorganization package ever seriously offered in Wisconsin and its first voting session may indicate how far Wisconsin will go in the direction of tax reform.

A key theme of a summary report to be submitted to the commission members will be the idea that "every adult member of the society should be expected to pay something to the maintenance of his government to the extent that it is practical."

Most significant of the proposals will be a recommendation for a modified form of sales taxation, grafted into the present Wisconsin fiscal machinery to provide relief for property taxpayers and stabilization of the income tax load.

Eliminate Surtax
The report will ask for the permanent elimination of income surtaxes and the repeal of the personal property tax.

It will also ask for a revision of income tax rates with proportionately heavier increases in the lower income scales, the authorization of state long-term debt for capital purposes, the extension of the corporate income tax to all corporations now exempt including cooperatives and mutual organizations, the installation of an income tax withholding system in such a way that individuals will be regularly informed of the amount of their total annual tax, a substantial increase in the taxation of motor

Humphrey Lists Facts of Life U. S. Must Face

Senator Gives His Views on Meeting Soviet Challenge

Ashland — Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., outlined six "facts of life" today that he said American leadership must face if the aggressive Soviet challenge is to be met.

The Minnesota senator, a likely candidate for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination, told a convocation of students at Northland college that the Soviet challenge is "a total challenge — requiring a total response."

"The Soviet challenge is across the board — more than military. It is also political, cultural and above all economic."

'Facts of Life'
"Behind a military shield of strength we must move forward on each of the non-military fronts. Piecemeal, off again, on again improvisations are not sufficient to meet this challenge."

Humphrey's "facts of life":

1—The Soviet economy is growing three times as fast as our own, and is "rags to riches" inspiration to peoples of Asia and Africa.

2—Only an expanding, fully productive United States domestic economy can support a sufficient American foreign economic policy.

3—Our trade with other countries is not just a matter of profit making, but of fundamental national power and policy.

4—The agricultural abundance of the United States is not a deficit but an enormous concentration of usable wealth.

5—Stop and go capitalization of industrial developments in the have-not areas of the world must be replaced by long term firm commitments by us — the largest source of capital in the world.

6—A genuinely successful aid program must be based on the real needs, not only as a stop gap defense against Communism.

Mediators Hope to Have Steel Talks Started by Monday

Washington — Federal mediators plan to get steel contract negotiations started again early next week, probably Monday.

Top leaders of the Steelworkers union have been tied up in Chicago with aluminum industry contract talks. They reportedly will wrap up a settlement this week.

Clues Slim in Touhy Rubout

Police Theorize Remnants of Capone Mob Responsible

Chicago — Slim clues, many theories and an apparent dead end marked the early police investigation for motives in the shotgun slaying of Roger Touhy, prohibition era gang chief.

As police intensified their search today for the killers of the 61-year-old ex-convict Wednesday night, there appeared many motives that might have prompted the assassination. There were not many clues.

Capone Mob
Touhy was shot down by two men with 12 gauge shotguns only 23 days after he finished serving more than 25 years in Stateville prison for kidnaping.

He was assassinated from ambush, in typical gangland fashion, as he and a companion, a retired policeman, mounted the steps of Touhy's home on the west side.

The ex-policeman, Walter Miller, 62, was seriously wounded but before he collapsed he fired at the fleeing gunmen. He was in critical condition in a hospital.

Some investigators theorized that the remnants of the old Al Capone gang may be

Predicts 530 Holiday Deaths

Chicago — An estimated 530 persons may be killed during the long Christmas weekend, says the National Safety Council.

The council said the number would compare with 370 deaths on the highways during a non-holiday weekend at this time of year.

The count of traffic deaths will start at 6 p. m. Thursday, Dec. 24 and continue until midnight Dec. 27, a period of 78 hours.

During last year's Christmas holiday, which covered a 4-day period, or 96 hours, 594 persons were killed in traffic accidents.

Reject Offer Of Defense in Finch Case

Los Angeles — Prosecutors have rejected a defense offer to concede that Dr. R. Bernard Finch fired the shot which killed his socialite wife last July 18.

They said they prefer to let the jury decide what happened the night Mrs. Barbara Finch, 36, was slain at their West Covina home.

The offer was made public yesterday when the transcript of a conference in Judge Walter Evans' chambers was entered in the record.

One Prospect
Trial of the wealthy physician and his lover, Carole Tregoff, 22, on charges of conspiracy and murder was recessed to Dec. 28 because of a shortage of prospective jurors.

Only one prospect from the original jury panel of 100 remained when the recess was called. Lawyers have been grilling potential jurors, choosing and discarding, in efforts to get jurors they deem desirable.

Attorney Grant B. Cooper, Finch's lawyer, made the offer to stipulate that Finch fired the fatal shot. The offer came in a conference Wednesday afternoon.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Fred N. Wichello and Clifford Crail, rejecting the proposal, said the defense has no way of knowing the prosecution's theory of the case.

Lost Portrait Up for Sale

Famed Rembrandt Expected to Bring About $420,000

London — Rembrandt's "Juno," a portrait lost for almost 300 years, comes up for auction next spring.

Art experts believe it will fetch at least $420,000 and may even rival the world record auction price of $770,000 paid last June for Rubens' "Adoration of the Magi."

The "Juno" was among 54 other old Dutch masters from the collection of the late Dr. C. Van Aalst.

The "Juno" is a late work by Rembrandt which was the subject of a law suit between the painter and an Amsterdam collector, Harmen Becker, in 1665.

Sold For $200
The picture — the model for which seems to have been Rembrandt's devoted mistress, Hendrickje Stoffels — is recorded in the inventory of Becker's paintings. It disappeared after his death and was missing for more than two centuries.

Then, unrecognized, it turned up in a Bonn gallery. The gallery sold it in 1935 for about $200, believing it to be a picture of no great consequence.

Milwaukee, Racine AMC Plants Will Go To 3 Shifts Soon

Milwaukee — Both the Milwaukee and Kenosha plants of American Motors corporation will go on 3-shift operations early next year and 3,500 additional employees will be hired, George Romney, president of the firm, announced today.

Operations will be on a 24-hour day, six days a week, based by late February "to meet unprecedented Rambler demands, the automaker said.

Western Allies Fashion Steps For Integrated Warning Plan

But French Still Refuse to Put Its Forces Under NATO Command

Paris — The western allies have authorized first steps toward an integrated system to warn of an air attack on western Europe but have left for Presidents Eisenhower and de Gaulle the major question of whether NATO could order French planes into action against the attack.

This is the chief result of the annual policy review by foreign, defense and finance ministers of the 15 members of the North Atlantic Treaty organization. The 3-day meeting ended here yesterday with France agreeing to a formula for establishing the warning system but still refusing to put any of its air force under NATO's unified military command.

Central Command
The United States wants forces of all NATO nations unified under the alliance's central command to defend western Europe. In the face of de Gaulle's opposition, the Americans urged that at least an integrated air defense be started. But the French would not even agree to that.

Instead, the ministers left it up to Eisenhower — as well as British Prime Minister

USW Threatens Court Action

McDonald Asserts Companies Must Bargain Individually

Chicago — David J. McDonald, president of the United Steel Workers, said today his union will take court action if necessary to force steel companies to bargain individually with the USW.

McDonald told a news conference the union on Dec. 10 asked individual companies to resume talks on a company-wide basis, but has received no reply.

He said if industry leaders do not accede to his demands, the union will seek contempt action in federal court.

10-Point Proposal
Arthur J. Goldberg, USW general counsel, said that under the Taft-Hartley law companies are "obligated to deal individually because our contracts are company-wide, not industry-wide."

McDonald said the union submitted a revised proposal for settlement to individual companies.

The 10-point union proposal contains the principal features of the Kaiser settlement, but would cost other companies slightly more than the Kaiser pact.

Time for 1959 People's Forum Awards Nearing

Writers of letters to the editor this year have expressed some significant and pertinent ideas.

Early in 1960, writers of the best letters, based on composition, clarity, effectiveness and conviction, will be honored at a testimonial dinner. The author of the best letter of the year will receive a gift and title of honorary editor.

Letters on any subject are eligible for consideration, and the point of view expressed does not have to agree with Post-Crescent editorial policy. If you have any strong feelings on any subject, there still is time to become eligible for consideration for the 1959 awards.

Disclose Details of Plot

Name Czech Vice Consul One Who Provided Poison for RFE Cafeteria

Heidelberg, Germany — The U. S. army charged today that the Czechoslovak vice consul at Salzburg, Austria, provided a communist agent with the poison found in salt shakers at the cafeteria of Radio Free Europe in Munich.

"The army counterintelligence investigation shows that Jaroslav Nemec, a vice consul at the Czech consulate in Salzburg, Austria, on Nov. 16 gave a communist agent salt shakers containing atropine for placement in the RFE cafeteria in Munich," an official army statement said.

"The agent was told that the shakers contained a 'mild laxative,'" the army said.

"Clinical analysis, however, proved that they contained atropine in sufficient quantity to cause serious illness, the degree of which would depend upon the age and physical condition of the individual and the amount of 'salt' consumed."

Disclosure of the plot against the private, American-financed station, which broadcasts anti-communist propaganda, was made Wednesday by its European director, Erik Hazelhoff of Mount Kisco, N. Y.

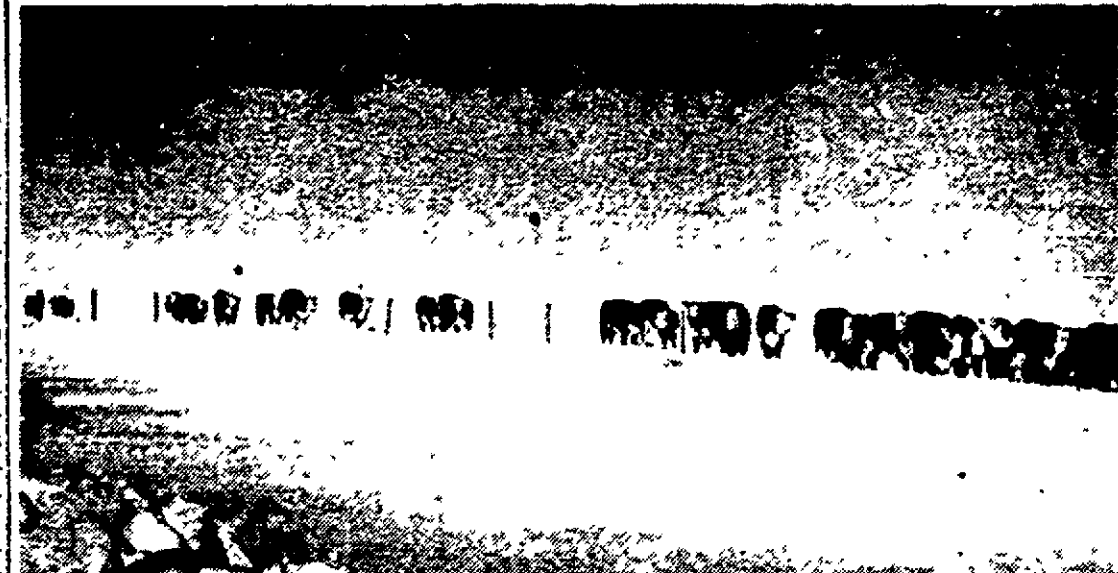

Undercover Agent
He said he had notified U. S. and West German authorities after being tipped that the poison had been put in salt shakers at the station's cafeteria Nov. 21.

U. S. army and West German officials at first denied they knew anything about the plot. But a spokesman yesterday said the army had been told about it.

Today's army statement said the plot was discovered by counterintelligence (CIC) agents during "normal security operations."

Hazelhoff said in his announcement that a "foreign communist power" was behind the alleged poisoning but refused to identify the country. He said only that it was planned by a communist diplomat stationed in western Europe.

Hazelhoff said that an undercover agent who had been working with the communists informed him of the plot. The director said none of the station's 1,200 employees were poisoned but that he ordered the cafeteria closed after the discovery. The cafeteria was reopened yesterday.

Desegregation Lag Noted by Rockefeller

Implies Ike Could Have Done More to Speed Up Program

Houston, Texas — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says, by implication, that the Eisenhower administration could have done more to speed up desegregation of the public schools.

He expressed this belief in Texas as he neared the end of a political fact-finding tour through seven states today.

"I won't be satisfied until we achieve our goal," he said.

He defined the goal as "ultimate equality for all." In news conferences in the south, reporters questioned Rockefeller closely about his opinions on the bitter controversy over the schools.

Not Satisfactory
He said he is not satisfied with the pace of desegregation. At the same time he counseled patience and said "understanding" is needed.

He said parties of interest should be brought together. "A great deal can be done by a group sitting down informally, not in the glare of public attention."

The following was an exchange in one press conference:

"Q. Are you satisfied then with the progress?"

"A. No. I won't be satisfied until we get our goal but I understand why in many areas why the pace hasn't been faster and I think understanding is a very important factor in this field."

4 Men Killed in West Coast Blast

Long Beach, Calif. — Four men were killed and two injured after deadly fumes exploded and caught fire in a tunnel excavation for a waterline last night.

Some kind of deadly gas spread through the tunnel and killed three of the workmen. A fourth died today of burns from the explosions.

One other workman was critically burned by the blasts and another was overcome by fumes.

Expect Senate to Kill Nelson's Plan

Withholding Bill Scheduled To be Rejected Today for Second Time in Legislature

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — Gov. Nelson's income tax withholding plan, keystone of his financial program for the year and anxiously promoted by the Democratic party organization, was scheduled to be killed in the state senate today for the second time this year.

Resolute majority Republicans were expected to hold their lines and kill the proposal that would, if passed, require employers to deduct state taxes from the wage payments of nearly 1,000,000 individuals, and require self-employed

Kuehn Says He Will Run For Governor

Associated Press Sports Writer

Madison—Philip Kuehn, 40-year-old Milwaukee businessman and former chairman of the Republican state committee, has definitely decided to run for the Republican nomination for governor next year.

Kuehn has been scouting the state during the last six weeks, and at a private luncheon with Republican legislative leaders this week confirmed his candidacy and described his campaign plans.

He indicated that he intends to launch an active stump campaign soon after a formal announcement in about a month.

No other certain candidate for the party nomination is thus far known but three or four other men have been prominently mentioned. Most Republicans doubt that former Gov. Vernon W. Thomson, defeated last fall, will run again.

Angry Voice of Assemblyman Asks for Recess

Post-Crescent News Service

Madison — The deep and angry voice of Frank N. Grass of Sturgeon Bay boomed out over the state assembly chamber last night.

"This is the loudest legislative session of all my experience," said the Door and Kewaunee county assemblyman who is senior to most of his seat-mates in legislative tenure.

"And it is a lousy thing to keep us here during Christmas week."

"I have a sick wife over in Michigan and I want to visit her next week," said the elderly Grass as he moved for a recess of the stalemated lawmakers until Jan. 12.

The interval recess would serve as a political cooling off period, he assured the Republicans of his own minority side and the skeptical Democratic majority.

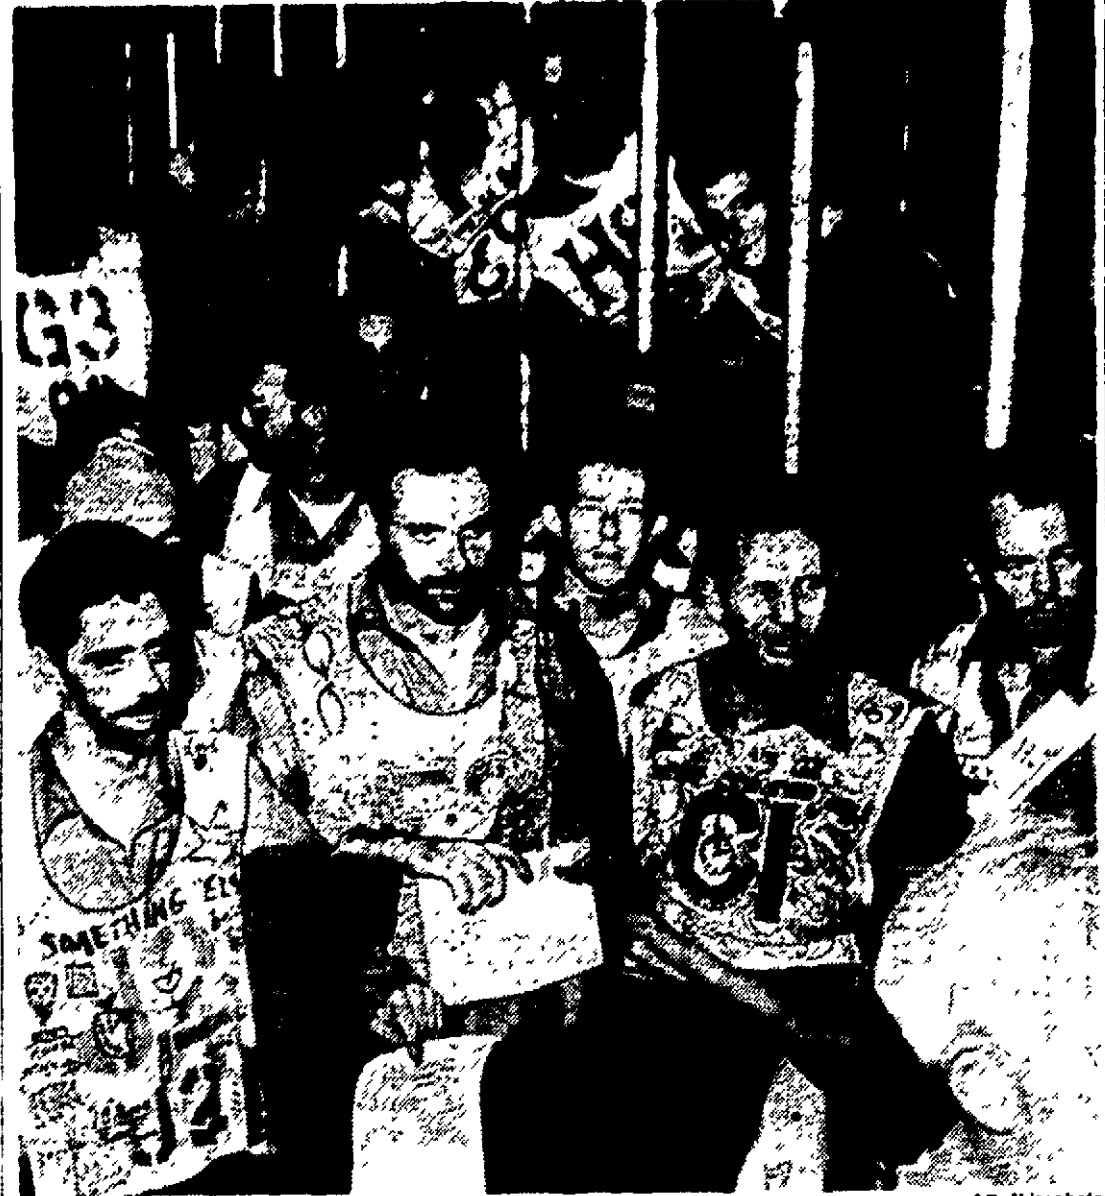

But, the Democrats were unmoved by the Grass plea.

Passenger Train and Dynamite Truck Crash

Tokyo—A crowded passenger train crashed into a truck loaded with 5,000 sticks of dynamite today at Hokohawa City, in central Japan.

Twenty Japanese passengers were injured, but the dynamite didn't explode.

Last Friday a truck carrying four tons of TNT collided head on with a gravel truck between Tokyo and Yokohama. The explosion killed the drivers of both trucks and their two helpers and injured another 100 persons.

Some of the 99 Men Who volunteered for a 14-day underground test of a fallout shelter at Pleasanton, Calif., are shown just before they emerged Thursday. One hundred men volunteered to undergo the test sponsored by the Office of Defense Mobilization, but one man suffered a throat infection after a week and had to come up for treatment. A spokesman for the group said "everyone was in good health and spirits after two weeks of confined subterranean living."

Cardinal Muench Tells Adlai Sees Great Joy of New Title

Friends, Relatives Gather to See Him Get Broad-Brimmed Galero

Rome — Aloisius Cardinal Muench told Thursday night of the great joy he felt as the cardinal's red hat was placed on his head by Pope John XXIII.

The broad-brimmed galero, highest symbol of cardinal rank, was delivered ceremoniously to the Milwaukee-born prelate some 10 hours after the pope formally conferred it at a glittering public consistory in St. Peter's basilica.

A Vatican delegation including two attendants in 18th century court robes, with ruffled collar and sword, took the galero to Salvatore Mundi International hospital in Rome where the former bishop of Fargo, N. D., has been residing since his arrival for elevation to the purple this week.

Pilot Lands Crippled Jet Plane

Detroit — An Eastern Airlines 4-engine jet prop Electra with 75 persons aboard circled over Lake Erie for half an hour in dumping its fuel before making a safe landing at Willow Run airport last night.

The plane's wing flaps failed to retract shortly after it took off as flight No. 757 for Miami, Fla. No one was injured.

The pilot radioed the tower that he was returning to the airport when he was about 40 miles out. He said he was dumping 10,000 pounds of fuel. This took a half hour.

Coming in for a landing, the pilot radioed that emergency vehicles were not needed because he could make a normal landing with the wing flaps in their set position. He retained just enough fuel to return and land.

Ground crews repaired the wing flap trouble, the plane was refueled and it took off again at midnight on the less-than-3-hour flight to Miami.

City Demands Dead Man Pay

London — A letter from the Battersea city hall arrived for 19-year-old Victor Brooker on the day after his funeral.

It demanded payment for sand used in cleaning up bloodstains after an auto smash.

Victor's widow collapsed when she read it. Her husband was killed in the accident.

Michigan Senate Acts To Ease Financial Woe With Revenue Bill

Empty Treasury Forces Williams To Back It as 'Better Than Nothing'

Lansing, Mich. — A revenue and beer, tobacco, telegraph and telephone bills pump $87 million into Michigan's debt-ridden treasury was passed Thursday night by the state senate and sent to the house.

The measure, pushed through by the senate's Republican majority drew immediate, if somewhat reluctant, support from Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams who told newsmen "having something is better than having nothing."

The house was expected to vote on the plan today.

One part of the proposal would liquidate the state's veterans trust fund, worth about $40 million as a source of quick income. Another $34 million would be raised from new or higher taxes on liquor

Later Computations Hike Speed Record

Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. — The air force says its new world speed record is 1,525.95 miles an hour—a step-up of 5 miles per hour over the claim announced earlier.

Maj. Joseph W. Rogers set the mark in a Convair F106 delta dart jet flying at 50,000 feet over the Mojave desert Tuesday. The old record was 1,483 m.p.h., held by the Russians.

Change in the speed figure was based on National Aeronautics association computations.

Police Bar Press

Portsmouth, Va. — A Norfolk Ledger-Star reporter set to cover a lecture for rookie cops on "the cooperative function of the police department with the newspapers" came back empty handed. The police barred the press from the meetings.

Stevenson Writes Foreign Affairs Magazine Article

New York — Adlai E. Stevenson says he sees new hope for an end to the arms race with Soviet Russia.

"Once a revolutionary regime leaves behind its adolescent fanaticism," Stevenson writes in the quarterly magazine, Foreign Affairs, "risk and cost become powerful considerations. I believe they exercise genuine influence in Moscow today and that we should do what we can to encourage the trend."

The former Illinois governor and 2-time Democratic nominee for the presidency has said he is not a candidate for the 1960 nomination. But Foreign Affairs says yesterday's 7,500-word article is his most comprehensive discussion of foreign affairs since his 1956 campaign.

He writes: "I am much encouraged by evidence from many quarters that the Russians are genuinely worried about the political and technical dangers and the cost to the U.S.S.R. of continuing the arms race indefinitely."

He said it appears that "controlled disarmament" was back at the top of the world's agenda "where it belongs." But, he added, the west must maintain a balance of military power with the communists—for its own safety and to strengthen its hand during disarmament talks.

Stevenson also suggested that the free world pool its resources for a 40-year, $200-billion investment program for underdeveloped less nations.

"To me," he said, "the two most dangerous realities we now face are the multiplication of nuclear weapons and the disparity in living standards between the rich nations and the poor."

He said the Eisenhower administration has lost the initiative to the Russians by giving priority unnecessarily to budgetary considerations.

Law Enforcement Officials At New London Venison Feed

New London—Over 100 law enforcement personnel from Outagamie and Waupaca counties gathered Wednesday night at the American Legion clubhouse for the annual venison dinner and party.

New London merchants and the Waupaca county justices of the peace donated the refreshments and food. Venison department officers, county patrolmen, army, navy and air force recruiters and a number of special guests.

Dr. H. C. Schmallenberg, a local physician, spoke to the group on uses of hypnosis, stressing its use in medicine as well as probing in investigation.

Jack Zuelzke, special Outagamie county investigator, invited the group to attend the next feed and party Dec. 15 at Appleton.

Henry McDaniel, Jr., was the master of ceremonies and Chief of Police Harry D. Mack prepared the venison.

CBS-TV Plans Variety Show on Wednesdays

'Twentieth Century' Schedules Program About Feats of Modern Olympic Games

BY JINGO
"Be Out Guest," an hour variety series, will move into CBS-TV's 6:30 p. m. Wednesday spot on Jan. 27. It will star George de Witt, the deposed tune quiz master, and will feature Miss Mary Ann Mobley, Miss America of 1958, as regular vocalist, and the Glenn Miller orchestra conducted by Ray McKinley.

Guests will be ordinary people whom producers feel the public would like to meet. Some will perform. There also will be "name" guests from time to time. "Twentieth Century" looks at some of the incredible feats of the modern Olympic games, founded in 1896 by Baron Pierre de Coubertin of France, Sunday afternoon, Dec. 27.

"They can't fool me," says Mort Sahl, "that telecast of best records of the year on the Grammy Awards show was nothing but a rigged rally for Dick Clark."

Lucille Ball says her big ambition is to play Broadway as a "Boris Karloff-type lady monster."

Comedian Dick Shawn, whom you've seen often on Ed Sullivan's show, is making his first movie. It's called "Wake Me When It's Over."

One of the reasons critics disliked Frank Sinatra's special last Sunday was the ridiculous backdrop, the scenery. Well, it turns out now that rain hit Palm Springs in December for the first time in 18 years, and the whole set had to be moved inside.

Sammy Davis, Jr., has signed to direct a western TV series called "Legends of Superstition Mountain. Wonder what they'll call it in the TV logs."

The Mickey Rooney rumpus gave Jack Paar his highest Trendex ratings ever, for

1960 Promises to be Big Year for Movies

Spectacular Dramas, Historical Sagas Among Wide Choice of Films

Just a glance at some of the big films scheduled for 1960 release shows better than anything else the wide scope of movies for next year. Spectacles, musicals, romances, comedies, psychological dramas, adventure tales, biographies, crime stories, westerns, historical romances, fairy tales, love stories — there isn't a base uncovered.

The whole psychology of motion picture entertainment for 1960 is big. Every studio has made or is making for release during the coming year pictures on a giant scale, productions that in scope and led by Spartacus against Rome in 73 to 71 B.C. "Spartacus" stars Kirk Douglas in the title role. Laurence Olivier, Jean Simmons, Tony Curtis, Charles Laughton, Peter Ustinov and John Gavan. Warner Brothers will present "The Miracle," a religious spectacle set in a later period of history — in Spain during the Napoleonic wars of the 18th century. Based on the well-known Max Reinhardt play that was an international success in the 1920's, "The Miracle" stars Carroll Baker, Roger Moore, Walter Slezak, Vittorio Gassman and Katina Paxinou.

"The Alamo" From United Artists will come John Wayne's tremendous production of "The Alamo," which brings to the screen the exciting climax of Texas' war of independence against Mexico. Filmed right in Texas on authentic locations, it stars Wayne as Davey Crockett (Wayne also directed the film), Richard Widmark as Jim Bowie and Laurence Harvey, Linda Cristal and teenage idol Frankie Avalon.

M-G-M has "Bells Are Ringing," a movie adaptation of the Broadway musical hit. It stars Judy Holliday, Dean Martin and Eddie Foy, Jr. Twentieth Century-Fox will offer "Can-Can."

For those who go in for laughs, romantic or otherwise, Hollywood is giving us plenty to choose from. Universal-International has for release, "Operation Petticoat." The rollicking comedy stars Cary Grant, Tony Curtis, Dina Merrill and Joan O'Brien.

From Stage Plays Paramount's "Visit To A Small Planet," a hilarious comedy farce, tells of an odd chap from outer space who takes a tourist trip to Earth. Adapted from Gore Vidal's hit Broadway play, the movie stars Jerry Lewis. Twentieth Century-Fox brings us "Let's Make Love" which will star Marilyn Monroe. Based on an original screen play by Norman Krasna, we learn what happens when the world's never depleted on the screen before — the slave uprising spectacle will dwarf anything attempted before.

An outstanding example is Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's William Wyler presentation of "Ben-Hur" which is being hailed across the nation as one of the greatest pictures of all time. Based on Lew Wallace's famous novel, this is a powerful story of the birth of Christianity in pagan Rome. Starring in a cast of many thousands are Charlton Heston, Jack Hawkins, Haya Harareet, Stephen Boyd, Hugh Griffith, Martha Scott, Cathy O'Donnell and Sam Jaffe. Highlighting the spectacular drama are the naval battles and, of course, the famous chariot race.

Other 1960 spectacle films which will recreate historical eras include "The Story of Ruth," from Twentieth Century-Fox. This will be filmed in the Holy Land, with Elana Eden, an Israeli beauty who has never been before the cameras, playing Ruth, and Stephen Boyd in the role of Boaz.

"Solomon and Sheba" From United Artists will come "Solomon and Sheba," which stars Yul Brynner, Gina Lollobrigida, George Sanders and Marisa Pavan. It creates for the first time on the screen another memorable love story from the Old Testament, between King Solomon and the Queen of Sheba.

High on the list of spectacles is Universal-International's $10 million production of "Spartacus," the most expensive picture ever made in Hollywood. The movie centers on another period of history never depicted on the screen before — the slave uprising

For those who go in for more serious drama, 1960 offers a host of selections. Warner Bros. will present "Cash McCall," the screen version of Cameron Hawley's best-selling novel which tells of a young man's rise to financial power. James Garner plays the title role. "The Rat Race," from Paramount is the story of a young jazz musician from Milwaukee who heads for New York looking for his big break only to find that the big city is not the wonderful land seen in picture books. Based on the Garson Kanin play and partly shot in New York and Chicago, this movie stars Tony Curtis in a dramatic role and has Debbie Reynolds playing a down-trodden showgirl.

Columbia brings us "Suddenly, Last Summer," a probing psychological drama based on a play by Tennessee Williams. It stars Elizabeth Taylor, Montgomery Clift and young man's rise to financial power. Aid to Iranians Mainly Aimed at Shoring Up Army-Backed Regime

BY WALTER LIPPMANN

In Iran, which we came to from India, an American will find much to think about. For here there is being put to the test the question of how a country which borders on the Soviet Union can be prevented from falling within its orbit.

Our answer to this question, which was evolved in the Acheson-Dulles period, is to build up an Iranian army, to promote and underwrite the military alliance with Turkey and with Pakistan, and to give financial and economic and moral support to the Shah's government.

The figures about our aid to Iran are classified. But it is no secret that we have in Iran a military mission of about 900 officers and men. They are there to help train the Iranian forces. In addition, we have an extensive program of civilian aid under the Point Four program, and we make up a deficit in the Iranian budget which may be as much as 20 per cent.

Yet an American visitor will be told, as we were told by the Shah himself, that the United States is not doing enough, and indeed that it is discriminating against Iran. The Shah complains that whereas Iran is completely aligned with us and is not neutralist in the cold war, we nevertheless give aid to neutralists like Nehru and Tito. The Shah feels that this aid ought to be given to Iran and other aligned countries.

of overturning it. This is the compelling reason for the Iranian preoccupation with the army, with the pleas to help make it bigger and bigger with better and better weapons. The officer corps is a privileged caste, and the army must grow in size if there are to be enough promotions. Every effort is made to keep the officers happy by subsidizing them with fringe benefits—as for example, discounts on the price of automobiles and other conveniences and special favors in the administration of the customs tariffs.

Military Threat

This is very important. For the official theory of our military aid and of the alliance with Turkey and Pakistan, is that the ground armies, which are very expensive, are there to resist the Red army. This notion is a hangover from World War II.

The Shah, who is a young and modern-minded man, says frankly that the military threat to Iran is not on the Soviet border. It is on his two other frontiers—that with Iraq on the west and with Afghanistan on the east. We need not, I would guess, worry too much about the Russian planes in Afghanistan. There are not many of them in the first place and in the second place Afghanistan is a very awkward country from which to get at Iran. But there is a real and not an imaginary danger on the Iraqi side.

The danger is not that of an organized invasion. It is that of infiltration and incursion. The Tudeh party, which is the communist party of Iran, is outlawed and suppressed. But it continues to operate underground from Baghdad. Moreover, the Kurds who live on both sides of the Iraqi-Iranian frontier are somewhat disaffected, and cannot be counted on as certain and reliable supporters of the Shah's government.

The net of all this is that the crucial problem in Iran turns on the stability and the durability of the Shah's government. His dynasty, which was founded by his father in 1926, has had a stormy history. The Shah's present regime is really only six years old, dating from his return after the overthrow of Mossadegh. The Shah says he is confident of the solidity of his government. But it is hard to avoid the impression that the regime is vulnerable.

Army at Base

Although the Shah is making a brave effort, the Iranian nation has not yet been consolidated behind the government. There are many things to worry about at home. There are the disaffected tribes. There are also an unknown but considerable number of sympathizers with the Mossadegh revolution, who are to be found in the upper and middle classes, among the intellectuals, and, although this cannot be verified, in the army as well.

The main foundation of the regime is the army. It is necessary to maintaining the regime and it is capable of overturning it. This is the compelling reason for the Iranian preoccupation with the army, with the pleas to help make it bigger and bigger with better and better weapons. The officer corps is a privileged caste, and the army must grow in size if there are to be enough promotions. Every effort is made to keep the officers happy by subsidizing them with fringe benefits—as for example, discounts on the price of automobiles and other conveniences and special favors in the administration of the customs tariffs.

In Iran, our military aid is really directed not outward but inward: It is not strategic and tactical but political and domestic. I am not particularly squeamish about this. It is the best way to help Iran, well and good. The question which this country will have to examine is whether it is going to be in the future the best way, or indeed how long it can be expected to work.

Radio Propaganda

Against this background we can understand better, I think, the real nature of the

Undermine Confidence

It is evident that the information they contain is sufficiently specific to make them plausible and that this information must be supplied to the Soviet broadcasters and processed for them by a wide and highly-placed network of disaffected Iranians. There is no doubt that they are undermining confidence and disturbing the morale of the Iranian public life.

This is the big stick. The carrot is offered privately through diplomatic channels. The Iranian foreign minister, whom we saw late one afternoon, told us that just that morning he had had one of a series of visits from the Soviet ambassador. They had talked informally, and the ambassador had once again argued that Iran would be much better off if it followed the example of Egypt and adopted a policy of non-alignment. Why don't you, said the ambassador, take aid from both sides? Let us give you arms and let us help you, as we are helping Egypt at Aswan, to develop your resources. Go on taking aid from the Americans, though you should send home the American military mission. If take aid from us, you will get more, not less, aid from the Americans who will feel that they must outbid us. We are not going to invade you and there is no need for you to act as if you thought we would. If we wished to attack you, we have plenty of missiles. I thought it interesting that the foreign minister wanted me to know this. What is more, it would be idle to suppose that this is not a formidable argument in a country which feels itself to be insecure, and is yearning for economic help from abroad. (Copyright, 1959)

Our Legislators Duck Big Job

One of the big jobs of the state government is to protect the motorists in their use of the state highways. One of the most effective ways to do this is to provide adequate policing of the heavily traveled roads.

In an effort to meet this obligation, the state of Wisconsin has set up a highway patrol which now numbers 210 men. When this patrol was established it was superimposed upon a county system of highway patrols. In the county there are many police officers patrolling roads within the county which pays them. Some counties have reasonably large forces and others have scarcely any. The 210-man patrol operates more or less independently of the county units. In fact, in many counties the county police regard the state police as competitors rather than auxiliary workers.

This is a very inefficient method of operating but the situation is so highly charged with politics that no state legislator has yet shown the gumption to take hold of it to straighten it out. Gov. Gaylord Nelson's administration had proposed an annual increase in the manpower of the state highway patrol of 40 men annually until the patrol should total 370. Only recently the proposal for a 40-man addition with a $368,269 appropriation was before the legislature but it was shouted down in the assembly where there is a Democratic majority and where the governor's proposal might be expected to receive its most favorable consideration. In the same bill it was proposed to give the state highway patrol the primary policing responsibilities of the I-highway system. However, this also was shouted down.

William W. Ward, (D-New Richmond), who ordinarily could be depended upon to defend administration proposals, declared that the patrol was attempting to take over the I-system and that it then would attempt to gain primary jurisdiction over state roads.

The question arises as to just what the assembly expects of the state highway patrol. When it clipped the patrol's plans for expansion it had nevertheless just voted money to support the present 210-man patrol during the year ahead. What is wrong with having the state patrol take over the I-system or in fact designated portions of the state highway system?

One trouble with the state highway patrol is that it lacks proper liaison with the county patrol units. The result is the people of Wisconsin are paying more than is necessary for the service they are getting from the county and state patrols. What the Wisconsin legislators need to understand is that the Wisconsin taxpayer is paying for both of these units and is entitled to the most efficient service possible. He is not getting that now and so far the legislature has done nothing to insure it in the future. Assemblymen speaking for and against this bill mentioned "feuding state and local police groups" which certainly means inefficiency. But no legislator made any move to straighten out the situation.

Dangerous Holidays Ahead

The Wisconsin Motor Vehicle Department features the slogan, "Slow down and live." At this moment that's the best piece of advice any motorist could receive. The United States now is on the verge of the highest number of traffic fatalities in its history. Wisconsin also may set a record.

The United States figure may run close to 40,000 according to the American Association of Motor Vehicle administrators. The all-time record for the country was set in 1956 when the total reached 39,628 dead.

Christmas and New Year's day both fall on Friday this year and thus there will be 3- or 4-day weekends for many Americans. The record is that more people die in traffic on long Christmas and New Year weekends than during any other major holiday period. In 1956, when there was a 4-day Christmas weekend, 706 persons died in traffic accidents. In 1955, on a 3-day Christmas holiday, 609 persons lost their lives.

The warning is perfectly clear. Those who want to live will slow down and use every other precaution to protect themselves during the dangerous days ahead. If the toll of motor vehicle accidents can be held to 800 dead this year Wisconsin will have a record unmatched since 1951. However, early this week the toll was reported at 782 which was above the mark for the same date last year. It will take almost a miracle to keep the toll under the 800 mark but it can be done if everyone cooperates.

For those who want to try to continue living or to save others, the most dangerous time of the holiday period is from 6 p.m. to midnight on Christmas eve. During those hours the average is 12 deaths per hour as against 5 during the next 24-hour period.

Here are some further tips for those who want to protect themselves. Thirty per cent of all fatal accidents involve drinking drivers. During the holidays the percentage is 55 per cent drinking drivers. During the year about 38 per cent of the deaths are due to speeding. At Christmas time this figure doubles to 75 per cent.

Throughout the year non-collision accidents, such as running off the road and striking a tree or overturning in the ditch, are the chief causes of fatal accidents. Usually such accidents are due to fatigue, drowsiness, lack of alertness and it should be noted that drivers suffer from these conditions more during the holidays than at other seasons. But, as the safety people point out, these are conditions which the individual driver can avoid if he wishes.

The advice that has been given by safety men over and over again through the years still is good. If you drink, don't drive. Never start a trip when you're tired and when on a trip stop often for coffee breaks. Keep fresh air circulating through your car and talk, sing or turn on the radio to keep alert. Keep a close eye on your speedometer and obey all highway traffic signs and try to anticipate the moves of other drivers allowing for the fact they may be drowsy and thus subject to error.

Public Cooperation Needed in Polio Fight

As of Oct. 24 the number of cases of polio in the United States had risen 49 per cent over the 1958 figure of the same date. The number of paralytic cases was up 96 per cent.

Some of this bad news resulted from the fact that the nation was hit hard by a highly virulent strain of polio virus. Nevertheless the National Foundation says that much of the tragedy was needless. The American public has at hand the Salk vaccine in plentiful quantities and is thus in position to eliminate almost all paralytic cases.

The outbreak of polio this year is probably due in large part to the fact that some 91 million Americans still have not had one Salk shot, and 18 million others have not completed the full series of shots recommended by the foundation. Five million of the unvaccinated Americans are children under the age of five. Nearly half of the paralytic cases reported in the first nine months of the year occurred in this age group.

It is true that there have been some cases of polio reported among children who have had the recommended three shots. But the number is so small as to constitute the expected exceptions to the rule which proves the case. For 1959 through Oct. 12

there were 197 paralytic cases among children with three shots under the age of four years. But, according to the foundation, these 197 cases represent a rate of only 1.89 per 100,000 fully-vaccinated children, of which there are about 10.5 million. On the other hand among the estimated 4.9 million children with no vaccine, there have been 974 paralytic cases or a rate of 19.88 per 100,000.

The conclusion is that the Salk vaccine has been approximately 90 per cent effective this year in the prevention of paralytic polio. The most convincing figures on the effectiveness of the Salk vaccine are that before the vaccine came into use the U. S. experienced an average of about 39,000 cases of polio each year. In 1955, the year the vaccine went into use, the number of reported cases dropped to 29,000. In 1956 the figure dropped to 15,000 and in 1957 to 5,500. Since 1957 the trend has been reversed; in 1958 the number of cases reached 5,800 and in 1959 they are expected to total about 8,500.

The obvious conclusion is that the people have become complacent over the news of the effective control of this disease, and have been neglecting the precaution of having their children protected by the Salk vaccine treatments.

Second Grader Writes Her Own Version of Famous Poem

From The Richmond, Va., Times-Dispatch

Charlottesville — Kathy Horton, 7, recently read Joyce Kilmer's famous poem, "Trees," then sat down and composed her version.

Her poem, as she handed it to her third grade teacher at Burnley-Moran elementary school for extra credit, went as follows:

I think that I shall never see,
A thing so crazy as a flea;
A little flea who makes his nest.

Upon some animals furry breast.
A flea who jumps and hops all day.
On anything that comes its way;
A flea who is so very small.
Theres hardly none of him at all
But just enough to let you know,
That where he bites a whelp will show.
Kathy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Horton.

Her teacher, Mrs. Susan Woods, described Kathy as a "very original child."

Kathy was admitted to Burnley-Moran's second grade class directly from kindergarten last year.

Neenah-Menasha Has Interest In Centrally Located Airport

From The Twin City News-Record, Neenah

The Outagamie county board and various county and city of Appleton interests are much concerned with better airport facilities for that county and city. The county airport committee, Mark Catlin chairman, has asked that a survey be made, studying the present airport and what improvements might be made, and also studying the possibility of another site.

Neenah-Menasha also has much at stake in what airport facilities are developed in the Paperland area. From lack of interest and lack of a strong enough fight, in spite of the best efforts of a few stalwart citizens, the Winnebago county airport years ago was located a little too far south of Neenah. A more central location at the time would have saved much later grief and expense. As the Winnebago county port now sets, even with recent and contemplated improvements, it still isn't adequate for the new large, fast jet planes, being quite stretched to handle even the new Convaers. The Outagamie airport has been and is still ineffective, and likely will so remain unless that county and the city of Appleton manage to promote a new site and enlarged port.

As the Twin Cities have in the past provided more passengers and freight for the railroads than either Appleton or Oshkosh, it is undoubtedly true that they supply more air passengers and freight as well. Thus Neenah-Menasha has a strong interest in what may happen in any area plane facilities.

The benefits of air travel and transportation lie in fast-speeds over long distances. Even the most important of feeder lines, North Central, can not economically and effectively make stops at both Oshkosh and Appleton. And neither port is or will be adequate for the air transportation demands of just a few years hence.

The best solution would probably be for one new regional port off Highway 41 which would best serve Neenah, Menasha, Appleton, and Oshkosh, possibly best located just off Neenah.

As the airport committee of Outagamie county has advanced, a survey would be the best start. But it should be by a professional and impartial outside engineering firm specializing in such work.

We also have a regional planning commission which to date has accomplished little but which it is now hoped is gearing itself for work. Possibly this unit could start with this immediate problem and become useful to the Paperland communities in this important matter.

Neenah-Menasha should learn for itself how best the Twin Cities can be served with air transportation, how best the area can be served, and work towards a better solution than has developed in the past or may develop in the future without local study and local work on the entire airport situation.

Congregation Marks 30th Year

79 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of Dec. 18, 1880.

To-day, Dec. 18, the Congregational Church of Appleton is thirty years of age. It was first formed by seven persons and met for worship in a small attic capable of seating 60 to 80 persons.

To-day, its membership canvasses the question whether or not to commence in the spring the erection of a new church edifice at a probable cost, when fully completed and furnished, of $30,000.

Tonight the congregation, its friends and well wishers will have a glad reunion and supper at the old church on Oneida street. It can be set down for certain that all who attend will have "a jolly good time."

Photographs Taken Of Polio Viruses 1st Time in Cells

Albany, N.Y. — Polio viruses have been photographed for the first time inside the human cell where they were manufactured, the American Cancer society reported today.

The photographs were made by Drs. D. C. Stuart, Jr., and Jorgen Fogh of the New York state department of health, supported by society funds.

Contrary to current belief, the scientists said polio viruses are not formed in the nucleus or heart of the human cell.

When the virus invades the cell and takes over the cell's mechanisms to manufacture more virus particles, it apparently does the manufacturing in the pool of liquid matter between the nucleus and the cell wall, the scientists said.

One single human cell can produce something like 100,000 virus particles in only a few hours, they said. These particles are so small that they occupy only about 1 or 2 per cent of the cell space.

9 Union Men Are Convicted

Charged With Conspiring to Defraud Government

Denver — A U. S. district court jury Thursday convicted nine men associated with the international union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers of conspiring to defraud the government.

Judge Alfred A. Arraj allowed the defendants to remain free on $5,000 bond each pending defense motions.

Telford Taylor, chief defense lawyer, said he will ask that the verdict be set aside. Failing that, he said, he will appeal the case to the 10th U. S. circuit court of appeals here. Judge Arraj set Jan. 18 as the deadline for any defense motions.

The convicted men each face a possible maximum penalty of 5 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

They went on trial here Oct. 26 on charges of conspiring to file false non-communist affidavits with the National Labor Relations board in order that the union could make use of the agency's services in labor matters.

The convicted men are Maurice Travis of Richmond, Calif., Irving Dichter of Denver, Raymond Dennis of Cleveland, James Durkin of Chicago, Chase Powers of Spokane, Wash., Albert Skinner of Salt Lake City, Jesse Van Camp of Danville, Ill., Charles H. Wilson of Columbia, Tenn., and Harold Sanderson of Denver.

Allies Agree On Steps for Warning Plan

Informants said that as far as the ministers' action went, it satisfied Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme allied commander in Europe. He feels the warning system is a pressing need.

Now he and his command can work out air defense strategy assuming there will someday be unity of command. They can even plan and build radar installations and communication centers in the NATO countries on the continent, including France.

Veteran policemen, who recalled the days when the rival Touhy and Capone mobs engaged in open gang war, said the killers waited more than 25 years to prove that the crime syndicate never forgives an enemy.

"Touhy definitely could have been shot in vengeance by surviving members of the Capone gang," said Virgil Peterson, former FBI agent and now head of the Chicago crime commission. "They had a grudge against him. Nobody except Touhy ever stood up successfully to Capone."

Robert Tiekens, U. S. district attorney, blamed the Touhy slaying on the Mafia.

Mafia Pattern

"This killing fits into the Mafia pattern of keeping members' lips sealed," Tiekens said. "Touhy must have talked, at one time or another. They killed him to impress other members that no matter how long it takes, they will seal your lips with death if you talk."

Richard B. Ogilvie, assistant U. S. attorney general on a special assignment to investigate organized crime in Chicago, said the killing undoubtedly was the work of organized mobsters.

Tax Reform Group to Hear New Proposals

CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1 some form of homestead tax creditor exemption and a plan for the desegregation of highway use taxes. Only 50 per cent of highway taxes should be reserved for highway borrowing, the "working paper" suggested.

Other proposals envisioned special taxing powers for larger metropolitan communities and a minimum filing fee for every taxpayer.

Tax Burden

The report conceded that the tax burden in Wisconsin is already relatively high, but warned that demands for higher spending will inevitably continue.

But there is room for considerable improvement in the efficiency of public spending through reorganization and consolidation of services and local governmental units according to the report.

Tax reform is needed to protect the financial integrity and economic vitality of the state, it was said.

The report also emphasized that "every taxpayer should be made aware of what he pays to support his government and how this money is used."

The committee's expected votes Monday on the contents of the report indicate that it may be preparing for somewhat earlier conclusions than Gov. Nelson, who initiated its studies, had earlier said was likely.

Proper Surfacing Key to Varnish Job

Extreme Care Required for Good Results With Transparent Cover

BY ANDY LANG

Whether you are putting a finish on wood, metal or any other material, surface preparation is an important part of the project. But its value is even more vital when the finish being used falls into the transparent class. For it is then that the slightest flaw in the wood is emphasized, making it stand out far more than before the finishing material was applied.

One of the most popular clear finishes is varnish, which enhances the beauty of the wood grain and protects the surface. The secret of a satisfying varnish finish is threefold: selection of the right kind of varnish, proper surface preparation and correct application.

The assistance of the paint or hardware dealer should be solicited before making your choice of varnish. There are many different kinds of varnishes for different purposes, a fact which seems to elude the many persons who merely select varnish from store shelves without matching the type of product to the specific project. Not all varnishes, for instance, are suitable for finishing furniture.

What Kind? Once you and the dealer have established the kind necessary, you will have to decide yourself whether you want glossy, semi-glossy or satin-finish varnish. The semi-gloss or satin-finish is preferred for most furniture, yet many professional finishers use the glossy on the theory that it is tougher and can be rubbed down to give the desired appearance.

The surface of new wood should be sanded thoroughly, first with a coarse paper then with fine. Be sure all grit particles are wiped off. A cloth dampened in odorless paint thinner is especially good for this. Not until you are completely satisfied with the smoothness of the surface should another step be taken.

Unless the color of the wood is exactly what you want, the common practice is to stain it the shade desired, following the label instructions. Most woods do not have to be filled, but open-pore wood—such as oak, walnut, mahogany and chestnut—may be filled if desired. Choose a filler of the same color as the stain. Here again it is necessary to follow label instructions. Do what the stain instructions say in the matter of a sealer. Some stains require a sealer before application of the varnish, some do not.

Dry Room

In the actual varnishing, which should be done in a dry room as dust free as possible, use a soft, pliable brush. Never dip it into the varnish more than one-third the length of the bristles. Don't wipe the excess varnish off by dragging it across the inside of the can, a practice which causes bubbles. Instead, tap the tips of the bristles lightly against the inside of the container.

Flow the varnish on liberally in the direction of the grain.

Tissue Trees Give House Holiday Touch

They're Inexpensive And Easy to Make;
Here's How to Do It

Put some of your own creative handiwork into your home Christmas decorations this year. Some of the cleverest and most original decorations are those you make yourself. Happily, they need not be expensive.

Here's a novel one—miniature tissue tree made out of your favorite, everyday tissues. It costs no more than a dollar to make, and it's so easy, you can turn out several between now and Christmas with the help of the children. Use them as a centerpiece for your holiday dining table, as a decorative accessory on a coffee or end table, or for a second tree in a youngster's bedroom.

This is what you need for each tree:

Chicken Wire

Three feet of 12-inch chicken wire, one large box of tissues, a package of pipe cleaners, a bottle of glitter dust, and a bottle of colorless nail polish.

Here's how to make the trees:

Form a cone by rolling the chicken wire from end to end. The diameter of the base should be about six inches for best effect.

Next, make flowers. Take a tissue folded in half, and cut along the crease. According to the tissue from end to end.

Twist the end of a pipe cleaner around the center of the pleated tissue.

Fan out the pleats, then separate the four thicknesses of tissue to form the flower.

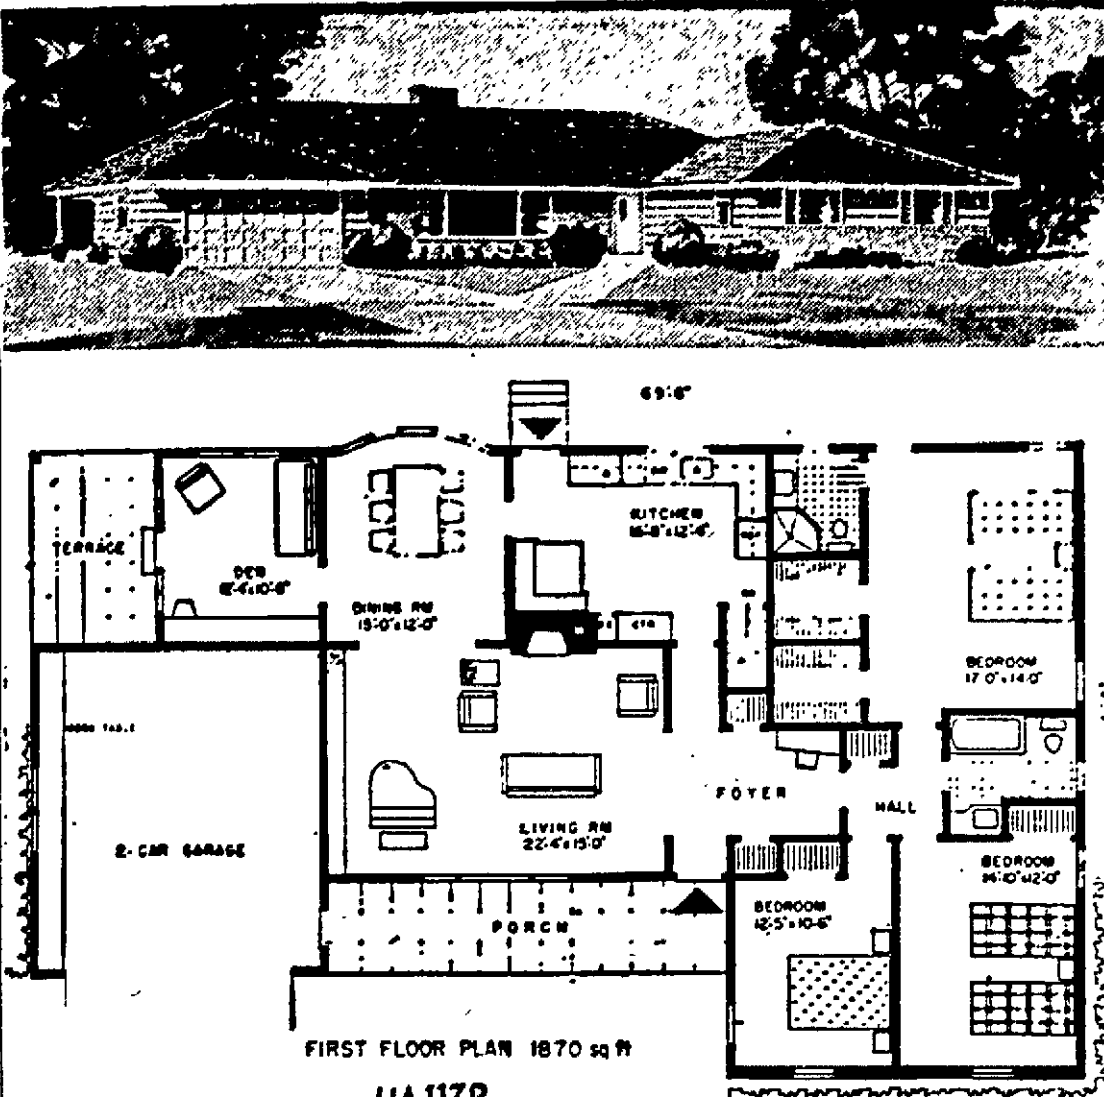

Brush edges of flower with colorless nail polish and dip into glitter before polish dries.

All told, you will need 35 to 50 flowers, depending upon how tightly they are placed on the wire base.

Various Colors

To fasten flowers to the base, place one at top of cone and twist pipe cleaner ends inside of cone. Continue placing flowers around cone, working down, until bottom is reached. Arrange flowers close together so wire does not show through.

And that's it! You can make the trees in white, or any of the variety of other colors in which tissues are available. They are charming decorative accessories, and sure-fire conversation pieces for family and holiday guests.

This 7-Room Rancher Covers 1,870 square feet. Features include the large foyer with twin closets, 22-foot living room with fireplace, den or family room secluded behind the garage and a covered porch off the den. The plan is HA117P by Samuel Paul, 89-51 164 street, Jamaica, 32, N. Y.

Do-It-Yourself Factor Speeds Tile Popularity

Flooring Can be Installed by Anyone; Material Holds on Every Kind of Base

Much of the popularity of resilient tile flooring in recent years apparently is due to the fact that almost anyone can install it.

Many do-it-yourself projects require a certain amount of skill to achieve good results. But putting down floor tile is mainly a matter of patience. If you can cement a single tile to the floor, you can cement dozens of them, assuming that you follow directions and exercise the same care with all the tiles as with the first one.

High on the list of resilient flooring tiles which have found favor are those made of vinyl. They come in a wide variety of color patterns and are easy to keep clean. There was a time when vinyl tile was not recommended for concrete surfaces below ground, such as in basements. But by using certain kinds of vinyl, with a special adhesive, even those installations now are possible. Our dealer can fill you in on this at the time you purchase the tiles.

Wood Floors

On new wood strip floors, or old ones in good condition, asphalt-saturated felt paper is first cemented to the floor, with the tile cemented to the paper. On old wood strip floors, first nail down any loose or broken boards. When the strips are less than four inches wide, install quarter-inch plywood or quarter-inch hardboard underlayment before putting down the tile. When the strips are four inches or wider, the plywood or hardboard should be a little thicker—three-eighths of an inch or half-an-inch.

Over Concrete The tiles can be placed directly over concrete, under the conditions previously outlined, after cracks and holes have been filled and all grease, wax and dirt removed. However, if the concrete floor has been painted with an oil-base paint, it is wise to remove it first with a sanding machine equipped with an open coat paper. This is not necessary if the paint has a rubber base.

Here's the Answer

QUESTION: Would like to install cork tile over a concrete floor above grade. The concrete was painted with a rubber base paint a few years ago. Must this paint be removed? And can the tile be placed right on the concrete?

ANSWER: The cork tile can be installed directly on the concrete if certain precautions are observed. There is no need to remove the rubber base paint. If there are any cracks or holes in the concrete, they must be filled. All rough spots must be smoothed. And be sure to remove all wax, grease and dirt, using warm soapy water or a special cleansing compound. Do not use gasoline or any cleaners containing mineral spirit solvents.

QUESTION: We bought a house seven years ago, taking over a GI mortgage at a low interest rate compared to today's rates. We now plan to sell the house. Will the buyer be able to take over the same mortgage?

ANSWER: If the new buyer can put up cash above the mortgage, he generally can take over the mortgage. But there are so many angles connected with this that it is best to consult a lawyer. Since you will need a lawyer (at least, you're wise to have one) at the closing, he can advise you ahead of time what the facts are about the particular mortgage you have.

Resolution: Safer. Homes in New Year

Follow This Checklist, Employ
Greater Foresight During 1960

BY VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Let's all resolve to have safer homes in 1960.

Many home accidents could be avoided by more foresight on the part of homemakers.

Here's a checklist:
Preschool children and elderly persons are the principal victims of fire in the home, because they cannot cope with the emergencies that arise when they are left unattended. Children should
and a babysitter left with them should be reliable and able to face emergencies. She should know where to contact the absent parents, and know the telephone numbers of fire and police departments.

Farm Children Farm children face many dangers that require special precautions on the part of parents. Farm machinery, tools, chemicals and animals are a particular hazard. Tools should be kept locked up and farm equipment parked out of reach of curious small fry.

Owners of swimming pools should be especially alert to the hazards of an unprotected pool. Many states require the walling in of swimming pools but that doesn't always keep out little wanderers.

There are safety devices to be investigated. One is an intruder alarm, a bell attachment that fits into the pool. It rings an alarm when anyone falls in the pool or when a certain amount of water is displaced.

A particular danger in the home is the medicine chest and cleaning cabinet. All dangerous medicines, including poisons, aspirin and sleeping pills, should be kept in the most remote place in the house while children are young. This could be a spot in the tallest cupboard, one not accessible to youngsters.

Cleaning fluids and powders should be kept on high shelves. Ditto laundry bleaches.

Bathroom Door
Do you have a bathroom door that when locked from the inside, cannot be opened from the outside? By the time such a door could be broken down, locked-in Junior could have made a meal on the dangerous items in the medicine chest or fallen out the window. A lock with a pushbutton on the inside knob is panic-proof in emergencies.

All you do is insert a nail file or knife blade in the slot on the outside knob to open the door.

Other potential hazard areas include the door to the cellar (it should be kept securely locked), the high chair placed under a heavy picture on a wall, spools of thread, roller skates and toys left on stair landings. Baby gates can be dangerous, also, because mother relaxes her watchful eye on baby feeling secure with the gates which are often

Get More Out Of Driveway

Basketball Hoops Help Convert It to Recreational Area

BY GEORGE E. CREED

Even if you have an ample yard, there are days when wet weather makes it undesirable for children to play on the grass. On such days, a well-drained hard surfaced area makes an attractive spot for recreation.

It is not unusual to see a basketball hoop fastened to the front of a garage, but it is unusual to see markings on a driveway pavement that would add immeasurably to the enjoyment of active youngsters. Layouts for free throw lanes such as those shown on drawings 1 and 2 are simple to paint, and they can do a lot to heighten the interest of your children in this worthwhile sport.

Another Game
Another game easily outlined on a paved surface is hopsotch, as shown in drawing 3. Dimensions are only suggested. They may, of course, be diminished for smaller children or increased for larger ones. Hopsotch will provide many hours of amusement for younger children.

Marbles, always interesting to boys, may also be played on hard surfaced areas. The official ring for this game is 10 feet in diameter. This is a rather large ring. Make a smaller one for young children. Marble rings should be outlined with lines as thin as possible in order to avoid disputes among the contestants.

Since there will be both foot and automobile traffic over any outlines, the use of a good white traffic paint is suggested. Such paint will withstand weather and scuffing. Several coats over each outline should last a long

Claims to be Nation's Largest Book Publisher

Washington — The aerospace industry claims that it is the nation's largest book publisher and its stack of technical manuals exceeds the combined output of all the commercial book publishing houses in the nation.

"Planes", the official publication of the Aerospace Industries Association, says that though these manuals will never reach the "best seller" list, the cost to produce them is astronomical—the air force alone spending some $250 million a year for technical manuals.

The publication adds that the aerospace industry is attempting to cut the mounting cost through a program of manual standardization. A plan to accomplish this act has been submitted to the defense department.

Honesty Pays, Man Finds Out After Try To Return Wallet

Orlando, Fla. — Orange county Deputy Randy Ferrell says he intends to remember Pearlie D. Gould on Christmas, Thanksgiving and several other times during the year.

Because:
Gould found Ferrell's wallet containing identification cards and $70 in cash, then endured several hardships in returning it.

The 75-year-old Orlando man set out walking to Ferrell's house nine miles away, but got lost and paid a man to take him home. The following night Gould started walking again. This time he got caught in a rainstorm, but finally arrived at Ferrell's house soaking wet. The deputy gave him a substantial reward.

These Days

Conquest by Attrition Has Been Russian Story for 1,000 Years

BY GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

New York — The great empires of the past faced not only land impediments but the frightening task of crossing oceans in which they could be defeated by swifter navies, wind and weather.

Russia has been building
a land empire for a thousand years, spreading outward from Kiev in all directions until the grand duchy of Moscow became the center of the largest land mass in the world under the power of the Bolsheviks who conquered by propaganda what neither Napoleon nor Hitler could take by force of arms.

The one climactic event that altered the nature of Russian history was Russia's conquest by the Golden Horde of the Mongols, the descendants of Genghis Khan. Georgians, Volga Mongols, Burials, Kalmucks, and other Asiatics or Eurasians became part of the Russian aristocracy through elevation to the nobility and intermarriage.

Conquest of Hungary
Russia rolled on like a snowball, absorbing country after country. Among the first absorptions by the Russians was the kingdom of the Khazars in 965. The Russians were moving toward the Danube and into Bulgaria (968) but this effort failed not to be repeated until nearly a thousand years later when Bulgaria became part of the Soviet Universal State and Hungary became a satellite with its people living in terror.

The Mongols swept over southern and central Russia between 1237 and 1240 when they took Kiev. For two centuries, the Khanate of the Golden Horde held this land.
When the Mongols receded, they left a vast area of Europe and Asia into which the new Russian principality of Moscow could and did move.
It was Ivan III who united the various principalities which had grown up under the Tatars.

South and East Movement Ivan the Terrible (1533 to 1584) set out to conquer the surrounding areas. He took Khan an. Astrakhan which gave Moscow control of the entire Volga. The Stanganov family settled east of the Urals. Yermak and his cosacks began the conquest of Siberia. So the snowball rolled southward to the Black Sea, eastward to the Pacific, westward into Europe. In many areas there was no real resistance or impediment. It was conquest by attrition.

has been continuous for about 1,000 years and is clearly evident to this day. From the standpoint of Russian history, the general trend of absorption, of conquest, of movement principally southward and eastward never ceases. The Russians reached the Pacific in 1637 which meant that they had gained control of what is now called Siberia.

In 1681 the Russians took from the Turks, the southern Ukraine. This brought Russia in contact with the Turks in the Balkans and led to a series of imperialistic efforts which during World War II resulted in the conquest of all Balkan states by Soviet Russia. Only Yugoslavia succeeded in regaining its freedom.

Greece and Turkey, sometimes regarded as Balkan areas, have become two focal points in the containment of Russia.

Much has had to be left out of this short account, including the various partitions of Poland, the acquisition of territories in Europe, the Russian development in Manchuria and Mongolia, the movement into northern Persia, etc. It has been, to continue the metaphor, a constantly rolling ball, stopped only during recent decades by fear of war with the United States.

Since the proclamation of the Truman doctrine of containment, Soviet Russia has made no further territorial advances. But red China is on the move. In a word, while Russia stopped in its tracks, the Soviet Universal State grows.

Sees Red Feather Service Cutback

Budget Chief Notes Drive Fell Short; Reserves Depleted

A cutback in services of the eight Red Feather agencies is almost certain, the board of directors for United Community Services in Appleton was told Thursday.

Jerome Hilier, budget chairman for 1959, told the board insufficient funds will require a 7-point program of cutbacks and revisions to make the Community Fund dollars stretch through the year.

A total of $136,426.96 was collected or obtained through exchanges with Fox Cities chapters. The goal was $156,103. The exchange system redistributes funds between chapters so funds donated by people who work out of town will be allocated to their home cities.

Reserve Funds Gone
Although the 1959 campaign raised 15 per cent more than last year, $3,000 less than last year will be allocated to the agencies. Reserve funds were used up to carry the agencies into the next fiscal year.

Hilier said the following steps will have to be taken:

Services for children and infants will be cut. Not as many will be placed in foster homes and agencies might have to stop taking new applications temporarily. Essential maintenance will have to be postponed. Increased agency fees may exclude some families which most need the services. Some unwed mothers will have to be refused help.

Losing Staff Members
There will be a cutback in emergency relief.

Agencies who are losing staff members might be undermanned because personnel are difficult to replace at present salaries.

The board is being urged to permit individual agencies to run separate fund drives.

"This would defeat the purpose of the Community Services joint drive," Rowland Todd, Appleton Community Service executive director, said.

He added, "We hope to obtain about $1,600 from people who donated generously last year and have not donated this year. Of course, contributions still are open to anyone who wishes to help us." Eight divisions solicited

Appleton Firemen and J. O. Johnson worked 7½ hours Thursday afternoon and this morning extinguishing a fire in the ash dumping grounds just north of St. Elizabeth hospital. Firemen said wallpaper and other debris was ignited, setting fire to unburned coke which evidently had been discarded in ashes from the hospital boilers. Johnson, pictured here, had to uncover earth as the coke burned far into the ground. The fire apparently was out shortly after mid-morning today.

funds throughout the city. The group soliciting public and civic employees reported the highest percentage with $6,684.89, or 111.5 per cent of the $6,000 quota.

Professional Men
The lowest percentage was reported by the group soliciting professional men. A total of $4,056, or 57.9 per cent of the $7,000 quota, was collected.

A breakdown of other divisions shows:

Pace setter, $82,275, or 91.5 per cent of the $90,000 quota. Finance and insurance, $12,243, or 81.6 per cent of the $15,000 quota.

Business-employee, $5,189, or 86.7 per cent of the $6,000 quota.

Building trades, $2,839.40, or 64 per cent of the $6,000 quota.

Diversified business, $5,089, or 67.9 per cent of the $7,500 quota.

General solicitations, $14,518, or 78 per cent of the $18,603 quota.

short illness. He was born Nov. 30, 1873, in Little Chute, and lived in Appleton for the last 16 years.

Funeral arrangements are being made by the Brettschneider Funeral home.

Survivors include three daughters, Sister Marian Frances, Elko, Nev., Mrs. Robert Monteith, Minocqua, and Miss Bernice Weyenberg, Appleton; seven sons, Joseph, route 1, Neenah, Edwin, Menasha, Richard and Rollin, both of Appleton, John, Redmond, Ore., Harold, Granger, Wash., and Jerry, Neenah; seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Mrs. J. Edward Maples

Mrs. J. Edward Maples, 67, of 945 Short street, died at 9:40 a.m. today after a 2-month illness. She was born August 21, 1892, in Milwaukee, and had lived in Appleton since 1932.

Funeral services will be at 1 p.m. Monday at the Wichmann Funeral home, with the Rev. Ralph Taylor Alton, pastor of First Methodist church, in charge. Friends may call at the funeral home after 2 p.m. today and after noon Sunday. Burial will be in Highland Memorial park.

Mrs. Maples is survived by one son, Edward, at home, and one sister, Mrs. Emily Thomas, Los Angeles.

James A. Johnson

Funeral services for James A. Johnson, 81, Kenosha, were held Thursday at the Grand Army home, King. Johnson died Tuesday. He was born July 13, 1878, at Racine.

The Rev. Charles W. Langdon officiated at the services held at the home chapel. Burial was in Lakeside cemetery, Waupaca.

Survivors include three sisters, Mrs. L. Larson and Mrs. L. Bradford, both of Oshkosh, and Mrs. Esther Goldsmith, Waupaca, and two brothers, Earl, Racine, and Robert, Fairfield, Iowa.

Schreiber Survivors

Among the survivors of Mrs. Herman Schreiber, route 4, Appleton, who died Wednesday in Kaukauna are four sisters, Mrs. Donald Hal-lam, Black Creek, Mrs. Ward Pamperin, Mrs. Elmer Noe and Mrs. Dean Hill, all of Howard.

Funeral services for Mrs. Schreiber will be at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at Holy Angels Catholic church, Darboy.

Young Services

Friends of Mrs. Laura Ad-sit Young may call at the R. C. Tesch residence, 67 E. Main street, Chilton, where her daughters, Mrs. Tesch

State District Office Started By Home Mutual

Home Mutual Insurance company, with general offices in Appleton, has established a separate office to handle Wisconsin operations. The district office also will be in Appleton, headquartered in Home Mutual's present building at 228 W. College avenue.

Victor C. Mueller, 1825 N. Division street, will be resident manager of the division. He will be assisted by an underwriting manager, claims manager, office services manager, field sales representatives and claims adjusters and engineers.

The district office is part of Home Mutual's reorganization plan under which resident managers have been named for the six states in which the company operates — Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, Indiana, Missouri and Kentucky.

Brother of Kimberly Physician Succumbs

Funeral services for Dr. Joseph J. Curtin, 73, of 5816 Cur-rant lane, Greendale, native of Kaukauna and brother of Dr. Donald W. Curtin, Kim-berly, were at 10 a.m. today at St. Alphonsus church, Greendale. He had been a physician and surgeon for about 40 years in the Milwaukee area. Dr. Curtin had practiced in Grafton, Wabeno, Sturgeon Bay and De Pere.

Survivors also include two sons, Daniel, Milwaukee, and James, Greendale; two daughters, Miss Elizabeth Curtin, and Mrs. Eileen Beier, both of Greendale; another brother, Robert, Milwaukee; and two sisters, Mrs. Alvin Erik-son, La Crosse, and Mrs. Wil-liam Van Abel, Kaukauna.

Rites in Appleton For Former Official Of Wholesale Firm

Abraham Peter Segal, 79, of Northbrook, Ill., former Appleton businessman, died Thursday afternoon after a short illness.

Until his retirement in about 1943, he was vice president and general manager of the Appleton branch of the Segal Wholesale Fruit company, which had its main offices in Oshkosh. He was born in Tauruigen, Lithuania, and came to the United States in 1898, settling first in Oshkosh.

He came to Appleton in 1914. He and his family lived for many years at 729 E. Washington street. Segal left Appleton four years ago to make his home in the Chicago area.

Graveside services will be at 1 p.m. Sunday at Zion cemetery in Appleton, with Rabbi Gilbert Silverstein of Moses Montefiore synagog officiating. Masonic graveside rites also will be held. Friends may call at the Brettschneider Funeral home from 10 a.m. until noon Sunday.

Survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Rosetta Alk, Northbrook, Ill., Mrs. Eunice Schoenbrod, Glencoe, Ill., and Mrs. Dorothy Jane Green, White Plains N. Y.; and one sister, Mrs. Pauline Winnik, Milwaukee. A cousin, Jacob S. Winnig, is the only Appleton survivor.

Around Home

It's the Christmas season, and the other night along the 500 block of E. Grant street some young carolers were serenading. As a housewife watched the heartwarming scene, she noted that several of the young carolers were not only singing, but slipping into pockets light bulbs from the strings of lights on trees in front of a home.

Forfeits for Tippy Driving

Appleton Man Backed Car Into Another June 12

Eugene A. Schwalbach, 39, of 809 S. Story street, forfeited $150 in municipal court this morning on a drunken driving charge.

Schwalbach was arrested June 12 after a patrolman saw him back his car into another auto in the 600 block of W. College avenue.

Schwalbach refused the drunkometer test.

Schwalbach's driver's li-cense was revoked on a July drunken driving charge. He was convicted while the pres-ent case was pending.

Driver Injured

Cars driven by Harold B. Barker, 40, of 1315 E. Frances street, and William N. Drey-er, 39, of 2010 Palisades drive, collided Thursday afternoon at Hancock and Meade streets, sending Dreyer to a physician for treatment of a head cut.

Toss Hat Soon, Advice Given Gov. Rockefeller

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison—If Nelson Rockefeller hopes to erect a campaign machine in Wisconsin to support his apparent candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination, he must declare himself as a candidate soon.

That was the crux of advice working Wisconsin Republican politicians gave the touring New York governor on his 2-day expedition into the state this week.

Although the governor's schedule was a fast-paced one with little opportunity for private talks with Wisconsin politicians, his abundant staff had ample opportunity. They went back to their campaign headquarters with two principal findings:

1. There are some important Wisconsin Republicans who are favorably inclined toward Rockefeller as a probably more appealing nominee than Vice President Richard Nixon.

Nixon Ready

But they want to be assured, relatively soon, about his intentions in the Wisconsin spring primary and until that time are unlikely to go out on a limb.

2. The bulk of Wisconsin party workers favor Nixon, and feel that polls of rank and file sentiment thus far fortify their leanings.

The Nixon campaign preparations for Wisconsin, moreover, are already well advanced, with the leadership chosen, the delegate slate nearly complete, and a timetable of announcements ready to be executed soon after the turn of the year.

Some Republican regulars who are confident they are on the right track preparing for the nomination of Nixon are haunted, however, by the realization that their best laid plans in the past went sour.

Recall Willkie, Dewey

They recall how the late Wendell Willkie blitzed the party in 1940, how Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York out-manuevered the late Sen. Taft in 1944, and how Gen. Eisenhower stampeded the 1952 convention when Sen. Taft entered the convention hall with what appeared to be the largest and nearly decisive bloc of delegates.

Some practical politicians in Wisconsin privately regard Rockefeller's public speeches and programs as vague and equivocal, but they are not underestimating his personality and the prestige of his powerful office as governor of the largest state.

There also lingers among many of them in Wisconsin an unwilling admiration of the calculated political methods of Thomas E. Dewey, whom they assume is part of the Rockefeller movement — in the absence of any proof to the contrary.

See Jibe

Some Wisconsin regulars might also have squirmed a little when Gov. Rockefeller repeatedly reminded them that he is a card-carrying Republican and that his kind of Republicans are able to win elections.

He pointedly noted that the New York government is completely under the control of the GOP, which also has a majority of the congressional seats of the state and both United States senators.

Some of his Wisconsin listeners might have interpreted that as a jibe at the Wisconsin regulars, who last fall humiliated the governorship, one house of the legislature, most of the other state offices, and a couple of strategic congressional seats.

Constipation Can be Eased By New Moistening Agent

By Joseph G. Molner, M.D.

All the letters in this column are real ones from readers. The difficulty is not in getting interesting health problems to write about, but in not being able to answer as many questions as I receive. Hence, on some few occasions, I send a personal answer to a reader, although I can't offer to do it for everybody. I don't have that much time!

Anyway, after that preamble, here's the letter:

"Dear Dr. Molner, I got 100 of the pills you said would help constipation. I took one as prescribed the first day; no help. I took two the next day. They made me worse. So I had to take (a laxative) that I was using before to help me out. I can prove this. Try it yourself. I still have the remaining pills I got 100 of. I hope you will check the facts — A.P."

Now let's talk in plain language about this letter — or rather, about this problem.

New Chemical

I know from experience that constipation can be eased and corrected by the use of a variety of remedies containing the fairly newly-developed chemical sodium dactyl sulfosuccinate. This is a moistening agent.

In genuine cases of constipation—and the condition is not as common as bowel worriers think—the fecal material becomes hard and dry and hence difficult to expel. This sort of condition is most likely to occur in older people and invalids who eat little, who don't exercise, and who have so little bulk in their intestinal tracts that there just isn't enough to cause or require a movement every day, or even every several days. For them, the above medication is a blessing indeed. It causes moisture to accumulate in the bowel and fosters the dry, hard material so that it can move more easily and comfortably. It makes possible normal bowel activity, in other words.

Harsh Action

A cathartic or laxative, on the other hand, induces action artificially, either by irritation or other factors.

A good many people think they are constipated because they have been brought up to believe that they must have a movement every day, or even several times a day to be healthy. This is not true.

But they believe it. They get in the laxative habit.

Then, like A. P., they spend a few days trying a more sensible method. Instead of allowing a few more days for nature to begin to resume normal operation, they become angry or alarmed or something, and go back to the old laxative habit.

You can't change a habit of 20 years' duration in two days. It takes a little longer than that. But it can be done. I'm sorry for A. P. He just would-

New Bulletin Published by County Police

Waupaca Release Fashioned After State Crime Letter

Waupaca — Waupaca county police departments are initiating a "Small Cities Crime Bulletin" in an attempt to strengthen city law enforcement.

The bulletin is fashioned after a statewide crime letter telling of major crimes throughout the state, but is limited to crime news from the county.

Because most traffic or criminal violations are made by area persons, the bulletin will alert other departments to be on the lookout for persons or vehicles described.

It will also serve as a general informational document to help police avert any prevalent type crime in their own cities.

The first bulletin mailed from the Waupaca police department includes six items. Described is the Weyauwega high school safe burglary, a stolen vehicle, stolen tires, bad check artists and other items.

Each department will send information semi-monthly to Waupaca for publication and mailing. Police in the area formulated the plan during a recent area police meeting.

Popular Cocktails Inspire Festive Hats for Holidays

Sherry Colored Satin was used by Christian Dior's New York salon in creating this glittering, evening pillbox. The cocktail hat is their interpretation of a sherry flip and one of a collection of glamorous evening headwear designed just for the holiday season.

To create a prettier, merrier holiday for feminine party-goers and their admirers, 17 designers who comprise the Millinery Creators of America have concocted evening hats inspired by popular cocktails.

The ingenious designers are Mr. Arnold, Hattie Carnegie, Chanda, Lilly Dache, Emme, Walter Florell, John Frederics, Mr. John, Miss Alice, Amrose, Christian Dior — New York, Gladys and Belle, G. Howard Hodge, Miss Mary, Laddie Northridge for Edgar J. Loris, Miss May and Bernard Workman.

John Frederics has designed an elegant twisted turban of ice white satin inspired by the daiquiri. Golden threads trace the silhouette, which is dotted by star-like jewels.

A pink lady prompted Mr. Arnold to create a lovely bit of feminine froth. Foamy pink veiling pyramids above a delicate pink pillbox tilted forward to set off a bright holiday smile.

Black velvet was the natural selection of designer Walter Florell who interpreted the black velvet with a giant curled ostrich plume. The velvet disque, hardly a hint of a hat, provides just enough anchor for the plume.

Old fashioned roses and lavender velvet were used by Bernard Workman who designed his impression of the very popular old fashioned drink.

The charming little hats add allure to the evening hours and some are meant to be worn at the back of the head while others sweep forward in flattering froths of veiling, set aspartle with jewels, paillettes and flowers.

Several cloches feature holiday berries or sweetheart bows while beautiful, bright blossoms grace many of the silhouettes which are perfect accessories for elegant furs.

Tiny pillboxes or rings that perch high on the crown of the head act as centerpieces for gala skirts of veiling which allow the wearer to become a real femme fatale.

Hats are so festive and beautiful this holiday season that all heads will turn wherever they are worn.

Famed Designer Lilly Dache was prompted to create this creamy spun glass silk toque for evening wear by a brandy Alexander. The draped bow achieves elegance by its simplicity and is a smart choice to wear with simple cocktail costumes for the holidays.

Parties to Precede Formal

A formal dinner dance will be held Saturday evening at the Elks club by the Manhattan Dance club. Cocktail parties in homes of members will precede the 7:30 p.m. dinner and dancing to the music of a local orchestra will be from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

General dance chairmen are Mr. and Mrs. Elide I. Wagner. Hosts and hostesses for the pre-dance parties will be Mr. and Mrs. Harley Splitt, 1717 S. Peabody street; Mr. and Mrs. William Lessel-young, 129 E. Byrd street; Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Barker, 1533 Palisades drive; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Max, 519 N. Outagamie court; Mr. and Mrs. Loring Pollock, 1727 N. Clark street, and Mr. and Mrs. Red-dar Rasmussen, 2207 N. Locust street.

A holiday theme will pre-vail at the formal event.

KD Circle Prepares Baskets

The Little Women circle of The King's Daughters met Monday evening at the home of Alice Fulton, 505 E. Frances street. All the committee chairmen reported on the Sprinter Spree dance and each member gave an item for the Christmas basket for a needy family.

Gifts for the circle's Christmas family will be wrapped Monday at the home of Margo Taggart. The circle also will prepare Christmas cards for the city home. Nancy Wink, president, is in charge.

Mrs. Carl Schuetter, leader, reported on the Retarded Children's program and the Sheltered Workshop and the girls voted a donation for each group. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Moose Lodge Plans Party

Moose lodge members and their guests will hold a New Year's Eve party from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. at the Moose home. There will be refreshments, dancing and a midnight supper. Tickets will be available from Harold Christianson, dance chairman.

Miss Marsh, F.M. Kramer Exchange Nuptial Rings

Trinity Lutheran church was the setting for the 5 p.m. marriage Saturday of Miss Rita Mae Marsh, daughter of Mrs. Eleanor Marsh, 111 E. Franklin street, and Frederick M. Kramer, 11154 N. Superior street.

The Rev. Karlton Wagner officiated at the double ring ceremony and the bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Bernard Morgan, Wisconsin Rapids. Maid of honor for her sister was Miss Yvonne Marsh, Appleton, and Mrs. George Angell, Menasha, was bridesmaid.

Best man was Thomas Miller, Appleton, and George Angell served as groomsman. Donald Uecker, Appleton, seated the wedding guests.

An evening reception and dance were held at the Town club. The bridegroom is employed at the Hugh Miller Construction company.

This Very New Hat fashion is inspired by the popular drink known as the Old Fashioned. The lavender pillbox is demurely decorated with an array of lavender roses enchantingly intertwined with velvet ribbon and soft beige berries. The creation by Bernard Workman was one of a collection of cocktail-inspired evening hats designed especially for the holidays.

Bubbling and Gala Pink champagne was the inspiration for this little evening hat created by Miss Alice. A ruffle of pink taffeta surrounds a matching Parisian rose with white, bejeweled leaves. The little cocktail hats were cocktail inspired and are sure to be seen at smart parties this season.

Couple Repeats Promises

The Rev. R. E. Ziesmer officiated at the 4 p.m. double ring ceremony Monday at Mount Olive Lutheran church uniting Miss June E. Lueders and Philip W. Condu. Parents of the young couple are Mr. and Mrs. Martin Lueders, 238 E. Pershing street, and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Condu, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Roehl, Menasha, the bride's sister and brother-in-law, were the couple's only attendants.

A dinner and reception were held after the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. The young couple will leave for Pennsylvania for a wedding trip in January and plan to reside at 123 W. Parkway boulevard, Appleton.

Mrs. Condu is a graduate of Appleton High school and is employed at the First National Bank. Her husband attended school in Pennsylvania and is a professional baseball player with the Washington Senators farm system. Last season he played with the Fox Cities Foxes baseball club and was tied for fifth place in hitting in the Three-I league.

In Good Taste

Wife Hurt By Behavior Of Relative

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband's sister invites him to dinner without including me. She is a widow who lives alone and I know my husband is very fond of her. But every time she calls him at his office and asks him what evening he could come alone, I feel like a cast-off shadow. Isn't this being very rude to me?

Answer: Asking him repeatedly to an evening meal alone, leaving you at home is far from proper. That she on occasion might like to see him alone is natural, particularly if she wants to talk over her personal problems with him. But in this case it would be better (and entirely proper) that they lunch together, or that he stop in to see her on his way home.

Wear Only Few

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it in good taste to wear diamonds—such as a necklace, bracelet, etc., in the daytime? I have been told that diamonds—except a diamond ring—are properly worn only in the evening and that a woman of good taste never wears them in the daytime.

Answer: In the daytime, it is not good taste for a woman to wear so many diamonds that she can be described as "dripping with diamonds," but to wear a few is quite proper.

Wedding Guests

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married soon and have planned a fairly small wedding. There will be a reception following the ceremony for about 60 people. Two showers have been given in my honor recently and most of the people who were at these showers are not on the wedding list. Am I obliged to invite these people to the wedding?

Answer: If you possibly can, you should ask all those who were kind enough to bring you shower presents to the wedding. If the reception has to be limited to families and closest relatives, your friends will surely understand and not feel slighted if you cannot invite them.

Tasty Dessert

Say Vows in Afternoon Ceremony

Mrs. Mark S. Gelfan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald S. Galpin, 1203 N. Superior street, was married at 4 p.m. Thursday to James M. Porter, Sr., 427 N. Sidney street, Kimberly.

County Judge Stanley Staidl performed the ceremony at the Outagamie county courthouse.

Mrs. Rololfo Vilario was her sister's matron of honor and David J. Porter, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents after the ceremony. The couple will reside in San Diego, Calif.

Your Problems

Illiterate Boy Friend's Errors Embarrass Girl Friend

BY ANN LANDERS
DEAR ANN LANDERS: My boy friend is in the service several hundred miles away. He writes often. His spelling and English are so poor no one but me could figure out what he means. I knew he was mentally slow but I didn't realize how bad it was until I saw it in writing.

In the presence of others he's made such glaring errors as "Isaac Walton's law of gravity," and the Mississippi ocean. When he said he could not understand how the vice president found time to write a daily column I learned he was confusing Richard Nixon with George Dixon.

I'm very fond of this fellow but I wonder if I could be happy with someone so far below my intellectual level. He's good-looking, sweet and wants to marry me. Frankly, I'm Ashamed of him.

If you're "Ashamed Of Him" now, I promise after marriage you would find life unbearable. Marriages work out best between individuals who have a multiplicity of things in common. Minimally, this means education, home background and religious training.

Additional schooling could help to improve his English and grammar but his general level of knowledge (as evidenced by the errors you pointed out) indicate that this fellow is unbelievably ignorant.

DEAR ANN: My husband and I are only children. We have married three years and have two little boys. Both sets of parents live within walking distance of our home.

Since we have no brothers or sisters, our parents live for us and their grandchildren. In the last two years my husband has had two wonderful opportunities to improve our financial status and advance in the firm where he is employed.

Both his folks and mine have told us they would be heartbroken if we moved away. They say "money isn't everything."

Again we have a chance to do better and again they are begging us not to go. This is a rather small town and his chances for advancement here are limited. What is your advice?—Torn Between

DEAR ANN: Money may not be everything but there is more than money involved here. Independence, and the freedom to make decisions based on what is best for you and your family is what is at stake.

It's unfair and short-sighted of your parents and his to place this burden of guilt on you. By all means urge your husband to accept the opportunity for advancement. The grandparents can visit you and you can visit them.

DEAR ANN: Our 13-year-old has been causing us heartache. He's been caught smoking twice in the last six months. We've tried to reason with him but it doesn't work. Another thing: he can look a person in the eye and tell the biggest lies you ever heard. We've never punished this boy severely because we don't believe in it. Do you think maybe he needs a good switching? Please suggest something. I'm beside myself.

DEAR C: This boy needs more attention, more affection—and punishment that means something. Apparently the "talkings" are not effective.

Deprive him of something he enjoys. I don't recommend switching. A good patch in the right place at the right time for a younger child is fine, but this boy is too old.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Before You Marry—Is It Love Or Sex?" enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Chinese Dancers Losing Weight, Have Hard Role

Hong Kong—Dancers are usually the spoiled darlings of Communist societies, but in Red China they're losing weight.

They're overworked and undernourished, says Tai Ailien, vice-president of the China Dancing society.

The main reason, she says, is a scarcity of dancers. In a speech reprinted in the Peiping Dancing Monthly, Tai Ailien complains that dancers are required to perform many different roles. They also have to do their own washing.

Lack Rest
"Their joints, feet and other parts of the body suffer because they become exhausted due to lack of proper rest," she says. "Many dancers suffer from malnutrition."

Tai Ailien, whose name means "Lovely Lotus" in Chinese, speaks more frankly than most Communists because she is not typical. She attended a progressive coeducational school in England before the war.

Communist governments usually treat dancers and other entertainers as a special elite class. They have the important job of keeping the people's minds off their troubles.

In Red China, however, dancing as an organized mass art is a new phenomenon.

Young Art
"Dancing is a very young art with us," Tai said. "Being of a mass nature it is needed and loved by the people but there aren't enough of us to meet the wishes and needs of the masses."

The Communists concentrate on group folk dancing with the accent on uniformity rather than individual brilliance.

Solo dancing is frowned on and the performances glorify everything Communist, from bumper harvests to the unity of the masses to what one commentator described as "the rollicking life of a truck driver in the new democratic China."

The resulting performances have a forced gaiety about them.

Tai has outlined a program to tackle the problems of China's dancers.

She recommends early training on the village level, the establishment of more dancing schools in towns and cities and thorough medical checkups at all levels.

Postpone Trumps to Ruff Losers

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

U. S. Masters Team Champion

We're going to have a new census in 1960, so perhaps we'll get the latest count on all those bridge players who are walking the streets because they forgot to draw trumps. And also on the equally unfortunate group who are homeless because they drew trumps too quickly!

West opened the eight of diamonds and declarer won in dummy with the ace. He discarded a club from his hand, quite properly. Then he led a trump from dummy.

East played low, and South won with the king of hearts. Never a man to shirk his duty, as he saw it, declarer got over to dummy with the king of clubs in order to lead another trump.

This put declarer right out on the sidewalk. East stepped up with the ace of trumps and led a third trump.

Now South could ruff only one spade in dummy, and he had to lose a spade trick to West's 10. Down one.

Foresight Needed
South needs a little foresight to play the hand properly. He must ruff two spades in dummy to avoid the loss of a spade trick. He must make sure of ruffing those losers before he draws trumps.

After winning the second trick with the king of hearts, South should cash the ace of spades and ruff a spade in dummy. He gets to his hand with the ace of clubs and ruffs another spade in dummy. Only then can he afford to lead a second trump from dummy toward his own hand.

This gives East no chance to defeat the contract.

Incidentally, in a good game, South should finesse the queen of diamonds at the first trick. If East has the king, South can ruff and take his discard on the ace of diamonds much later in the play.

The advantage of finessing the queen of diamonds is that a crafty West may have led from the king, hoping to steer declarer away from a finesse if he has a singleton diamond.

Daily Question
As dealer you hold: S-7, H-10 8 4 2, D-A Q 10 4 3 2, C-K 7. What do you say?

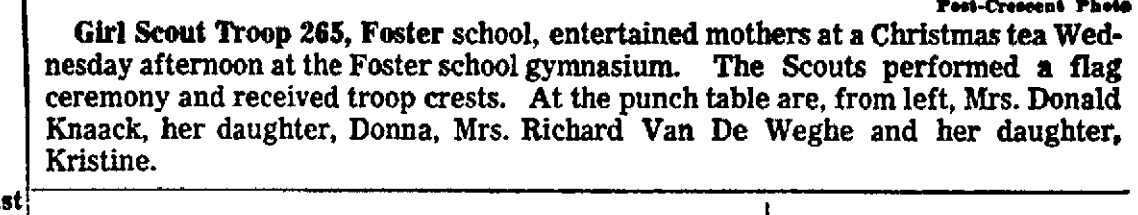

Answer: Pass. The hand is not quite worth an opening bid of one diamond. Even if you use "weak" 2-bids, this would not be a good time to bid two diamonds. It is very unwise to open with two diamonds when you have strong support for a major suit.

Our Children

Responsibility Key to Teaching Self-Control

BY ANGELO PATRI

"I told my daughter, who is almost 16, that she could not go to a party held in a tavern, (the party was to start at 10 o'clock and end when the last couple faded out) but she went anyway. Why do children get out of control like this? Why don't they listen to us who know more about things like late parties at taverns than they do?"

I do not know of course, being far removed from this family, but I have a strong suspicion that this girl's disregard of her parents' wishes and her disobedience to their orders have their roots in the past treatment they gave the child.

Discipline must be administered during the first six years of a child's life. Discipline does not mean punishment—exactly. It means a treatment of a child's helplessness, ignorance and wishes so as to reduce his mistakes and strengthen his good tendencies.

It means starting early to teach him that he is the most important person in relationship to himself.

Learns First
That he must learn to help himself and other people just as soon as he is able to make the first gesture. Discipline means to instill in him a sense of responsibility to himself and to others, sharing what goes on in the household.

As soon as a child can hold a washrag he should be allowed to do so, though he has scant control of it. He should be allowed to try to feed himself though he makes a mess of it the first few times. Let him have the spoon after he has been fed enough food for nourishment, so that he gets control of it gradually. This will not be too much trouble if he has his meal in a room suited to his messy activities.

Soon he can learn to put his toys on the shelf. Soon he can learn to "help" by putting the spoons in the right drawer. As he grows in power and understanding he takes on more responsibility. He is learning the rules, the obligations of living.

Punishment at Times
There will be times when a child deliberately disobeys an order for his protection, when he hits someone in anger, as all children do one time or another. For such breaches he is to be punished. This does not mean he is to be spanked. That depends. But it does mean that he is to be inconvenienced so that he learns his demonstration of selfishness does not work. It brings him unhappiness.

The training children get between the years of birth and the sixth year is what bends their behavior toward goodness, human decency, cooperation. Sixteen years of no training cannot produce these desirable qualities. Discipline that teaches the facts of everyday living, begun as soon as the child begins life in the family, will assure the cooperation needed at 16.

WITH a blunt needle threaded with yarn, Christmas-minded children can make tree garlands out of short pieces of colored straws and stars cut from bright stiff paper. Tie a large knot in one end of the yarn, string stars and straws alternately. Run the yarn through the straws and through the center of each star.

Lawrence Singers Present Distinctive Christmas Program

By Marguerite Schumann

One of the earliest bits of Yuletide lore we ever gleaned out of English literature (right after Scrooge and his "Bah, humbug!") was that if a man were rich enough, he could command his waits to sing either in lane or baronial hall.

One of the joys of democracy as it is practiced in these United States was revealed last evening at the Lawrence Music-Drama center, when a lot of poor-ish men enjoyed the same privilege. The waits in this case were the Lawrence Singers, an elite corps drawn from the larger Lawrence concert choir. The baronial hall was made in the 20th century fashion, but the music and the instrumental accompaniment were purely and delightfully baroque. LaVahn Maesch was the guiding hand that put together a consort of 27 singers, seven strings and one organ, and he is to be thanked for a pre-Christmas package that was both fresh and distinctive.

Pint Sized String Group

Climax of the evening was the enchantingly soothing texture of a pint sized string orchestra pitted against the little chorus in Dietrich Buxtehude's "Rejoice, Beloved Christians," an advent cantata composed while Buxtehude was organist-choirmaster in Lubeck, Germany. In it the fervor of the Christian prophecy shines clearly forth, stripped of latter-day sentimentalities, and it was an earnest reminder of the basic facts of the season. In addition to the singers, who appeared at their fresh-voiced, youthful best, there were seven instrumentalists: organist Daniel Smith, violinists Judy Goodrich, Lucy Baicher Heiberg, Lucille Orbellson and Karl Sager, with cellists Marian Wolfe Ming and Jan Smucker. The strings and delicate keyboard instrument imparted a particularly high gloss to the ensemble.

Earlier in the evening, and no less effective, was a group of Handel coronation anthems, composed for the investiture of George II in 1727. There is a lot of Handel that has almost fallen out of the common domain over the years, and these particular items are no longer given wide hearing. It was interesting to observe first hand what Handel sounded like when he was obviously writing at the behest of the Chamber of Commerce, or whoever stage managed that coronation.

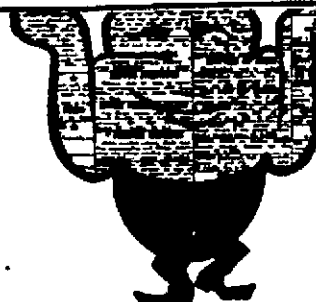

Advent Anthems

Contrasting with the two 16th and 17th century works was the first of Lawrence's commissioned works to be given a hearing during the Festival Year. Frank Pooler, recently of a suburban Chicago high school now removed to San Diego State college, contributed a pair of anthems for advent — "Gird Yourself With Lamentations" for men's chorus, a strong, angular thing for male voices, and a somewhat more ambitious composition "The Desert Shall Rejoice" in which sensual loops of melody were hung like festive garlands above an underpinning of hollow fifths and fourths. Director Maesch repeated the new compositions a second time, for the audience's more careful analysis.

Vocal soloists during the concert were Carolyn Rosenthal, Menasha, and Wayne Hundertmark, Fond du Lac.

BPW Club Has Dinner Meeting

The Appleton Business and Professional Women had a dinner meeting at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday at the YMCA. Mrs. L. A. Weaver was program chairman.

A string quartet, composed of the Ewald Tilly family, presented musical selections and Miss Neal Dohr and Miss Mary Aderhold, Lawrence students, gave two Christmas readings.

Mrs. Sylvester Peotter and Miss Marian Leisnering also presented musical selections. Money was collected for the BPW club in Mexico.

Young Republicans for Nixon Group Formed

Madison — A Wisconsin Young Republicans for Nixon committee has been formed. The group filed organizational papers with the secretary of state Thursday to promote Vice President Richard Nixon for the Republican presidential nomination in 1960.

Roger P. Murphy, Waukegan, is chairman. Other officers are Mrs. Rose Ann Tolman, Wauwatosa; Mrs. Peter Kohler, Sheboygan Falls; Warren Barberg, Eau Claire; and James Mack, La Crosse.

Optimist Party

The Optimist club will hold a Christmas lunch and party at 12 p. m. Dec. 28 at the American Legion clubhouse. The group will provide gifts and entertainment for needy children at the event.

Story of Scrooge

AHS 'Christmas Carol' Done Well, Effectively

BY LAVERNE KNIEBUSCH

The well-known story of Scrooge and Tiny Tim was effectively told in the Curtain Call production of Dickens' "Christmas Carol" Thursday afternoon for an Appleton High school audience. Good characterization, dramatic lighting and simple staging enhanced the story of old England and a people for whom Christmas was the feeling of love and compassion toward others.

As miserly Scrooge, Dick Natrop did a masterful job of interpreting a person whose lust for money was stronger than his feelings of human sympathy and generosity. His exuberance in the final scene when he discovered he had been given another chance to show the true Christmas spirit was especially well handled.

The minor role of Scrooge's housekeeper was one of the best characterizations in the play, with Mary Lawless giving a lively interpretation of a forthright and frank Cockney woman. Her scene with Steve Hegard as the pawnbroker added a touch of England and a bit of humor to the play.

Tiny Tim Charles Cary played the part of Tiny Tim, while Larry Handel was cast as the servile Bob Cratchit. Karoline Stenlund showed the true the

Modern American Wife Becomes Worrisome Type

BY VIVIAN BROWN

The 1960 American woman doesn't give a hoot whether she'll be able to rustle up pork chops for her man on the moon. But she'd like a few hundred questions answered that are closer to home, please.

She's become a worrisome type because everyone has gotten into the act of confusing her. Why can't scientists agree on something instead of keeping her in a state of amblying neurosis, she asks.

She's willing to keep her man on a low fat diet, providing medical men can agree that it will keep his cholesterol down. And if it stays down — is that good? Scientists hedge on the saturated fat question she says, and if they argue among themselves, what can you expect of a poor housewife?

Downright Confusing

As a matter of fact, her penchant for medical knowledge is overwhelming. She went through a cancer period, hepatitis period and cardiac period in 1959, all because she's had a couple of the symptoms outlined in various periodicals. Statistics strike home even if you don't know what they mean, says she.

The lady is worried about food additives, hormones and antibiotics fed to the animals that provide the meat she eats, plant sprays on garden produce. From time to time she studies the effects of fallout, about which she understands even less.

Black jelly beans are under government scrutiny. So is her trusty old lipstick.

A housewife with time on her hands has gone in for scientific quizzes, another way to produce a dilemma. She's managed to psychoanalyze every member of the family that way, and the results are not encouraging.

Entertaining has become a worry, too. There's the case of the shrinking food package, for instance. All set to serve guests a delectable beef bourignon, the family cook is likely to find her trusty six ounce package is a mere four and three-quarters ounces, even though she paid the same price for it.

If she chooses a dinner of modern turkey, she can't please the dark meat fiends. It's loaded for white - meat types. Ham doesn't taste like ham any more. Some vegetables are dyed to look pretty.

Everyone Worries

But the art of worrying isn't confined to the adult members of the family. Junior and Sis are doing their share of it, a family service report relates. Is it because they have no chores to do? One wonders as dishes go into the dishwasher, laundry into the automatic

The youngsters are glued to television worrying that their parents haven't the proper supply of soap, breakfast food and candies. And why doesn't Mom's hair shine like the girl who shows you how to use the hairbrush?

It seems as though Americans have so much time on their hands that they're worrying themselves silly, regardless of environment or age.

Ancient Plot Determines Women's Clothes, Shoes

BY DOROTHY ROE

Why do today's women wear hobble skirt and needle heels?

They may think they are selecting the latest fashions by their own free will, but actually they are victims of an ancient plot by the male sex, says Lawrence Langner, noted playwright, director of the Theatre guild and author of a new book, "The Importance of Wearing Clothes."

"The differentiation in clothing between men and women arose from the male's desire to assert superiority over the female and to hold her to his service," said Langner. "This he accomplished through the ages by means of special clothing which hampered or handicapped the female in her movements."

Watch a woman trying to get into a taxicab in one of this season's hobble skirts and you'll see what he means. Watch her wobbling along a city sidewalk in a pair of stiletto heels, and the point is apparent. It would be much simpler for the ladies just to stay at home, which is what men have had in mind all the time.

Langner pointed out that from earliest times men's clothing has permitted freedom of action while women's garb has been designed to hamper her movements.

In ancient China, where women customarily wore pantaloons, Langner said that other means were adopted to hamper movement—their feet were bound to make it impossible for them to wander far from the home fires.

Look at women's clothing through the ages. Rock paintings dating from 10,000 B.C. show prehistoric men wearing shorts pants and women wearing long skirts. In ancient Egypt, Greece and Rome both men and women wore robes, added Langner, but the men's usually were short, the women's long.

There were the hoop skirts of Civil war days, the bustles and dust-ruffles of the Gay Nineties, the constricting corsets and multiple petticoats of the early 1900's. All worn in the name of fashion, but actually dictated by the scheming male, Langner said.

He notes with some concern the modern revolt of women against hampering dress, which began with the flapper era of the 1920's.

"Watch out for women," he cautions. "In our modern civilization some of them make far better men than we men do. And men, hold on to your trousers, or you may end up wearing skirts."

Village Health Budget in 1960 Shows Growth

Garbage Collection Reason for $4,200 Increase at Kimberly

Kimberly — The growth of the village is readily apparent by the money appropriated for conservation of health in the 1960 budget compared to the 1959 amount.

Total budget for 1960 in this bracket is $32,770 compared to $28,510 in 1959, an increase of about $4,200. Cost of labor for garbage disposal accounts for the greatest share of the increase as this was increased from $12,400 in 1959 to $16,000.

This increase reflects higher wages and more men needed on this job to collect garbage from the spreading community. In line with increased garbage, the dump grounds rental and permit was raised from $2,820 to $3,120. Although a $4 special assessment is made for garbage collection, it covers only a small portion of the total cost, according to village officials.

Unchanged Items
Items unchanged in this classification are board of health, $150; sewers' expense, $5,000; treatment plant labor, $3,500; relief, $600; plumbing inspector's salary, $360; plumbing inspector expenses, $100 and insurance $280.

Cost of maintaining the grade A milk regulation was increased from $800 in 1959 to $1,660 in 1960 and sewage treatment plant expenses were dropped from $2,500 to $2,000 per year.

Village Reports Receiving State Checks of $18,712

Kimberly—Two checks from the state were received recently by Mrs. Paul Lochschmidt, clerk-treasurer, representing the village share of utility tax and highway privilege tax, the total amounting to $18,712.66.

Utility tax amounted to $13,753.60, an increase of $4,304.27 over the $9,449.33 received in 1958 and about $9,200 over the $4,500 estimated in the 1959 budget.

The second and final highway privilege tax check amounted $4,959.06 making the total for the year $18,712.66 compared to $17,606.94 in 1958. The total received is $6,772.68 more than estimated in the 1959 budget.

Recreation Department Will Sponsor Movie

Kimberly — The recreation department will sponsor a free film for all youngsters at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at the public school auditorium. Title of the film will be "Toy Doll."

Wooden Shoe Halts Rally to Hold Kimberly Loop Lead

Kimberly — After dropping its first game of the season in the Village Basketball league last week, Wooden Shoe had to fight off a rally Wednesday night to regain its winning ways by taking a 73-69 win over Dud's Inn.

The league leaders jumped off to a 22-16 first quarter lead and widened the gap to 45-39 at the halfway mark.

Dud's began its comeback in the third frame taking a 1-point, 16-15 scoring edge and then duplicated the 16 points in the final period while the winners tallied 13. The 6-point halftime advantage was a little too much to overcome for Dud's.

Hank Peerenboom scored 18 and Jim Harke hit 16 for the winners while the losing effort was fairly much a 2-man show as Dennis Valentine poured through 30 points and Dick Verbeten added 22.

Second Contest
The second game saw Van's Alleys coast to a 68-48 win over Connie's Bar. The victors jumped off to a 15-8 first quarter lead and at halftime had increased the advantage to 35-20.

The losers rallied for 17 points in the third frame while holding the winners to 12 but Vans came back strong to tally 21 in the last quarter to 11 for the losers. Al Hammen scored 20 and Dick Van Hammond had 16 for the winners while Jim Kilsdonk hit 14 and Jerry Weyenberg had 10 for the losers.

Tax Roll Delivered To City Treasurer

Kaukauna — Karl E. Marzahl, city clerk, delivered the 1960 tax roll to Miss Ruth Wolf, city treasurer, to permit making out and preparing tax bills for mailing.

Total to be collected by the treasurer in taxes and special assessments in 1960 is $855,519. Amount of the tax levy in the 1960 budget is $842,624.

St. John Will Face Springs On Saturday

Entertain Ledgers In Conference Tilt At Little Chute

Little Chute — Seeking to rebound from a disappointing loss to Abbot Pennington High Tuesday, St. John cagers will entertain St. Mary Springs of Fond du Lac Saturday night. St. John is 1-1 in the Fox Valley Catholic conference while Springs has a 0-1 mark. The Chuters will go into the game as the underdog since Springs lost to Abbot Pennington by four points and St. John dropped to the Squires by 10.

Springs Record — For the season, Springs has had its ups and downs. The Ledgers have a 2-4 record. They defeated Wayland academy and Fond du Lac High. In contrast, St. John lost to Wayland. Springs has dropped games to St. Catherine of Racine, Cedar Grove Campellsport and Pennington. Bad passes and fouls were the Chuter downfall in the game at Pennington Tuesday. St. John led for better than three quarters before fading in the closing minutes. Pennington rallied with 20 points in the fourth period while holding the Dutchmen to only eight.

This will be the final game prior to the holidays for the Chuters.

49th New Home Permit Issued

Kaukauna — The forty-ninth new home permit issued this year, three more than issued in all of 1958, was granted Thursday by Lothar Kemp, building inspector, to Harry Borree, 1305 Hendricks avenue. Borree will construct a 1-story home at 1304 Kenneth avenue, cost estimated at $14,000.

Traffic Disrupted By Gas Truck

Savannah, Ga. — Traffic was disrupted on busy U. S. 17 for several hours Thursday night after a truck loaded with butane and propane gas crashed into a tree. The truck driver, Robert L. Burned, 18, of Bloomingdale, said he halted traffic immediately because he feared a spark from an exhaust pipe might ignite escaping fumes. A favorable wind slowly wafted the fumes into an open field adjacent to the highway, firemen reported.

The accident occurred on the north-south artery about 10 miles south of Savannah. Burned said his truck hit a tree after he swerved from the road to avoid a head-on crash.

Chuter Frosh Tip Kimberly

Jay Lamers Hits 23 in 48-35 Win, First KHS Loss

Kimberly — St. John freshmen handed Kimberly its first loss of the season with a 48 to 35 victory Thursday afternoon here.

Scoring advantages in the first and fourth periods gave the Chuters the win. St. John moved to a 13 to 8 first period lead and increased it to 21 to 13 at the intermission.

Kimberly posted 11 markers in the third quarter while St. John added 10. The Dutchmen put on the clincher by counting 17 in the final stanza while holding the Papermakers to 11.

Jay Lamers led the Chuters with six field goals and 11 free throws for 23 points. Al Hietpas, rangy center, aided the winners' cause with 10 markers.

Wes Vander Velden, Papermaker star who has been averaging better than 20 points per game, was held to eight, high for the Kimberly team.

A Swiss family traveling around the world in a foreign station wagon compared "firsts" when it visited Appleton this week. Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Mottiez and their 6-year-old son, Claude, inspect a replica of the first hydroelectric central station on S. Oneida street. Mottiez built the first hydroelectric plant in French Equatorial Africa in 1948. Holding Claude is John McLean, Wisconsin Michigan Power company public relations director, who guided the Mottiez family through the building.

Around the World

Nomadic Swiss Family Compares 'Firsts' Here

A Swiss engineer, his wife and 6-year-old son who are traveling around the world in a small foreign-made station wagon had an opportunity to compare firsts when they visited Appleton Wednesday and Thursday.

Louis Alfred Mottiez, 42, from Lusane, Switzerland, saw the original counterpart to the hydroelectric station he built in French Equatorial Africa in 1948 — the first one ever constructed in that country.

His son, Claude, and wife, Milly, stood by while father and husband carefully inspected the Vulcan street station replica on S. Oneida street. The station was the first central hydroelectric such a problem that differing widths of pipe were telescoped to cut down on costs. All materials had to be brought in land during the 6-month dry period because roads were impassable during the remainder of the year.

KHS Varsity Cagers to See Marquette Game Sponsored by KAC

This is a new venture by the organization and the coach and adult KAC members will accompany the players.

5-Year Trip — The family began its journey in 1956, and expects to arrive back in Switzerland sometime in 1961 — after having visited every continent except Antarctica, and just about every major city in the world, including those behind the Iron curtain.

When the family's tightly equipped station wagon pulled into Appleton, the odometer registered 102,200 miles, including parts of 70 countries, 28 states, mountain ranges, deserts and gorges.

Inside the wagon there is a small sink, berths for the whole family, shelves for necessities and hundreds of souvenirs, all neatly arranged by Mottiez himself.

Multilingual Family — The language barrier has proved little problem to the multilingual family. All the members speak French as a native tongue, adding to it Italian, German and English. When the family arrived in the U. S. eight months ago, Claude knew no English. Today, however, he chats comfortably in English, with almost no accent.

His parents complain that Claude has surpassed their knowledge of the tongue. "He often says something that we can't understand," explained Mrs. Mottiez. "Then he has to translate."

The family will visit all 50 states before leaving the country for the far east. Friday, the nomadic trio will visit Green Bay.

Mottiez said the trip has been a life-long dream of his and that he has saved for it for many years. The trip is being financed exclusively out of his savings, he said.

Lutheran High Concert Today

Traditional Event Features Band, Choir, Pianist

Fox Valley Lutheran High school's traditional Christmas concert will be given at 8 p. m. today in the school auditorium.

The school band, choir and triple trio will perform. Miss Judi Olson, pianist, has been named soloist for the program.

A special combined band and choir number, "Story of Christmas," a medley of well-known carols, will open the program. The Rev. Hogey Bergholz directs the band and Kurt Oswald directs the choir.

The choir will sing two groups of Christmas numbers: "To Thee My Heart I Offer" by Schultz, "O, How Beautiful the Sky" by Christiansen, "O Christmas Babe" by Satern, "Come Rejoicing" by Schultz, in the first group and "We Greet Thee, We Adore Thee" a chorale written about 1504, "Cradle Song of the Shepherd" a Glatz folk song, "Whom of Old the Shepherds Praise," by Whitehead, and "In Dulci Jubilo" by Pearsall.

The girls' triple trio will sing "Mary's Lullaby," by Darwin Hintz.

Republicans Thursday Honored S. N. Pickard, right, for his work as state Republican finance chairman from 1957 until last month. Claude G. Jasper, Madison, state GOP chairman, left, is presenting Pickard with a testimonial while Rufus K. Schriber, Jr., Oshkosh, center new state finance chairman, watches.

Party at Testimonial Dinner

Neenah — The need for a 2-party system in the nation and participation of the citizens in either of the two parties was stressed by S. N. Pickard in his response at the testimonial dinner in his honor Thursday noon at the Valley Inn.

Sponsored by Winnebago county Republicans to recognize Pickard's work as state Republican finance chairman, a job from which he retired recently, state and national GOP officers paid tribute to his work for the party. Pickard served two years as state finance chairman.

Plaudits were extended by Claude Jasper, Madison, state Republican party chairman, and Cong. William K. Van Pelt, Fond du Lac, on behalf of the Republican state county, local and national officers and party members at the dinner.

Jasper presented Pickard with a desk pen set from the state organization and with a resolution passed by the state GOP executive committee.

Should Join Party
"We have a 2-party system we all believe in and we wouldn't want it any other way," Pickard remarked. He urged that every person of voting age should select one of the two parties that best meets his beliefs.

"I don't go much for the independent voters who say they vote for the man. I don't think America will progress and survive on that philosophy."

"We need two parties to be active and strong. They should take either party but should take one of them."

Pickard commended the amount of voluntary service given to the party, "a great service done for the Republic."

Lumber Company;
Honored by MU

Neenah — William J. Roemer, 74, retired lumberman and honorary member of the board of Marquette university, died at 10:10 p.m. Thursday at his home, 157 N. Park avenue. He had been in poor health since January.

Some years ago he formed the William J. Roemer Lumber company in New London with the office operated out of Appleton. He retired in 1947. In his early life he was with the Payne Lumber company at Oshkosh and later formed a lumber company in Detroit, as well as Watersmeet and Saginaw, Mich., before he established the New London firm.

He was born July 10, 1885 at Chaska, Minn., and came to Appleton with his parents in 1893. He was a life member of the Appleton Rotary club and belonged to the Appleton Elks club. He had lived in Neenah since 1941 and was a member of the Holy Name society of St. Margaret Mary Catholic church and of the Knights of Columbus.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday at St. Margaret Mary church with the Rev. James F. Craanen, assistant pastor, in charge. Burial will be in St. Joseph cemetery at Appleton. Friends may call at the Kessler Funeral home after 4 p.m. today and the rosary will be recited there at 8 p.m. A memorial has been established for Theda Clark Memorial hospital.

Aloisius Cardinal Muench, of Fargo, N. D., one of two new U. S. cardinals, places his big flat galero on his head today after receiving it from Pope John XXIII in Vatican ceremonies. The galero, a broad brimmed, low crowned felt with braids and tassels, was first worn in the 10th and 11th centuries. The headcovering now is normally never worn formally in public but is set aside and is placed on the cardinal's catafalque as he lies in state after death. It is then suspended from the ceiling of his cathedral.

Twin City Deaths

Jensen Infant
Menasha — Funeral services for Lois Jensen, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Jensen, 381 Elm street, were scheduled for 4 p.m. today at the Westgor Funeral home with the Rev. Walter Lichtsinn, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church, in charge.

Burial was to be in Oak Hill cemetery. The child died at birth Thursday night.

Survivors are the parents; two sisters, Lorraine and Elizabeth; and the grandfathers, Alfred Jensen, Bonduel, and Arthur Schuster, Shawano.

Cardinal Muench Says Aloisius Is His Right Name

Rome — Cardinal Muench says he wants to be known by the name Aloisius — outside Germany.

The Milwaukee-born cardinal has been apostolic nuncio to Germany. He told a reported in Bonn recently he would be styled Alois Cardinal Muench after receiving his red hat. But Thursday night in conversation at a reception the cardinal said Alois, German equivalent of Aloisius, is for Germans only.

The cardinal said he uses "Aloisius with an I," as differentiated from the spelling Aloisius, in his English correspondence.

His brother Joseph, of Neenah, said the spelling of his 70-year-old brother's name doesn't bother him. "We call him simply Allie," the brother observed.

PSC Approves CNW Automatic Signal

Neenah — Installation of automatic warning signals by the Chicago and North Western railway and a new street layout with safety islands by the City of Neenah were ordered by the Public Service commission for the Winneconne avenue crossing.

The commission Aug. 18 ordered establishment of a new grade crossing for Winneconne avenue as requested by the city. On Oct. 22 it took testimony on the type of signal to be installed and the street layout at that crossing.

Its order issued this week accepted the type of automatic signal to be installed, which was regarded as better than the type the commission had ordered.

The first order provided the city shall establish a new grade crossing and the railroad shall rearrange its present wigwag signal and install additional automatic signal protection.

Cantilever Style
The railroad will install at the Washington avenue and Winneconne avenue Y-shaped crossing a cantilever style flashing light with front and back lights east of the tracks and a flashing light signal with front and back lights directed along Washington avenue and with side lights facing Walnut street west of the tracks.

These will replace the present wigwag signals. It also will install an additional light signal facing eastbound traffic on Winneconne avenue. These are to be installed within a year.

The city proposes to extend Winneconne avenue in a straight line across the tracks rather than curve it to meet Washington avenue on the west side of the track, coming in opposite Walnut street. The two avenues now will meet on the east side of the track.

It will install traffic control signs and construct safety islands to channel the vehicular traffic at the crossing. New curb lines also will be installed.

The commission order stated the present crossings are dangerous to human life and the proposed changes and additions to the automatic signal protection will promote public safety.

R. A. Farrell Declines New Board Term

Notifies Menasha Town Chairman Of His Intention

Menasha — Robert A. Farrell, route 2, Menasha, a member of the Menasha

R. A. Farrell board of education since July 1954, has announced he will not be a candidate for the coming term, which begins next July 1.

In a letter received by Amos D. Page, Menasha town chairman, Farrell said: "I have appreciated the opportunity of participating in this community service. The records will show my official activity has been continuous since 1944."

Page commended Farrell for his service, saying he "did a good job as director of the Maplewood school district's board before the area was consolidated."

He was elected to two 3-year terms on the Menasha board of education as the town's representative, in April 1954 and April 1957. On the board, he served two 1-year terms as president, from July 1957 to July 1959.

Farrell also serves as educational representative for the town of Menasha on the Fox River Valley Regional Planning commission, to which he was appointed two months ago.

Farrell is a product developer for Marathon division of American Can company.

S. Commercial Project Tops Plans for 1960

Neenah — Street construction expenses for 1960 are estimated at $259,200, Mayor Bell outlined this morning. The major project includes the S. Commercial street widening and reconstruction for which the city had budgeted $125,000.

Special assessments for the street program are expected to return $176,300 to the city.

Also planned for reconstruction next year is Walnut street in the area west of the Chicago and North Western railroad tracks.

Since much of that street abuts city-owned property, the amount to be borne by the city will be higher than for other streets where special assessments defray a portion of the cost.

Seek Whereabouts Of Oshkosh Man

Oshkosh — A $100 reward for information leading to the whereabouts of Leonard Schneider, 39, of 1029 Eastman street, missing since 11 a.m. Dec. 9, is being offered by the Oshkosh Police department.

Schneider was reported missing by his employer, who said he left sometime during the morning of Dec. 9. His unlocked car was found in the company parking lot. The Fox River, east of Main street, was dragged for two hours that day.

He is described as being 5 feet, 8 inches tall, weighing 180 pounds, with dark brown hair and brown eyes. He wears glasses.

Neenah Story Hour

Neenah — Stories which Mrs. Clarence Bredendick, children's librarian, will tell at the story hour at 10 a.m. Saturday at the Neenah Public library are "Brownies — It's Christmas" by Gladys Adshead, "A Christmas Party in the New York Public Library" by Anne Carroll Moore and "Paddy's Christmas" by Helen A. Monsell.

The new books and Christmas books which have been on display at the library for first and second graders for

Santa Claus to Make 11 Stops On Neenah Trip

Neenah — Santa Claus will give out popcorn balls when he travels through Neenah on the fire department float Saturday afternoon, stopping at various scheduled places to greet the youngsters.

The schedule of stops will be Hoover school at 1 p.m., Lincoln school at 1:15 p.m., McKinley school at 1:25 p.m., Western avenue and Main street at 1:40 p.m., Cooke park at 2 p.m., Roosevelt school at 2:10 p.m., Columbian park at 2:30 p.m., Congress place and Stevens street at 2:45 p.m., Laudan boulevard and Oak street at 3 p.m., Peckham and Oak streets at 3:15 p.m. and Langley boulevard at 3:30 p.m.

The trip will be made if weather permits.

Judge Revokes Youth's License

Oshkosh — Richard Nigl, 17, of 627 Evans street, this morning had his driver's license revoked for a year by Municipal Judge S. J. Luchinger on a drunken driving charge. Nigl also was fined $25 for resisting arrest.

He was arrested Dec. 11 after his car struck a utility pole near his home. He pleaded guilty to both charges the next day. Nigl was given until Jan. 4 to pay.

the last two weeks will be ready for circulation at 9 a.m. Saturday.

Rural Groups Stress Fire, Tornado Safety

Project Planning Committee Maps 1960 Program Theme for Farm Families

Oshkosh — A plan for human life protection in the event of a fire or tornado and a plan for safety and protection in every home and school in rural and suburban Winnebago county is the goal of an extension service planning committee which met Thursday at the courthouse.

This group of volunteer citizens is of the opinion that relatively few schools and families in the area have any type of organized procedure if a fire should develop or if tornado clouds are approaching.

The planning committee was called by the county extension agents and the county superintendent of schools. The committee represents the various communities of the county and organizations which generally sponsor some type of community service projects.

On the committee are Mrs. Arden Christianson, town of Omro, a member of an extension homemakers club; Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Bondow, Clayton township, she being a school board member; Frank Pischke, Utica township, master of county-wide Pomona Grange; Gordon Raddatz, Black Wolf, president of the Farm Bureau; Mrs. Cora Lang, Algoma, teacher at the Oakwood 3-room school; Mrs. Elsie Radl, Nekimi, teacher of a 1-room school; Mrs. William Roycraft, Rushford, representing the 4-H Leaders association; and Alvin Asmus and Elmer Seibert, town of Neenah both rural volunteer firemen.

Extension Agents Lois Klusmeyer and Vernon Peroutky participated in the discussion; as did also Mrs. Maxine Ott, county superintendent of schools.

A committee was named from the group to develop projects for the various organized groups. The entire committee will meet later to evaluate the proposed projects, make changes and then develop plans of action around the safety topic.

The steering committee comprises Mrs. Roycraft, Seibert, Miss Klusmeyer and Peroutky. Factual information on storm and fire protection as well as information on the weather is being secured from the weather bureaus at Madison and Green Bay as well as the agriculture engineering department of the University of Wisconsin college of agriculture.

Break Grounds For Fox Point Shopping Area

Construction to Get Underway for $1.5 Million Project

Neenah — Ground breaking ceremonies were held this morning for the new Fox Point shopping center, estimated to cost from $1 1/2 to $1 3/4 million, which is being built on Green Bay road, just south of Highway 41.

Wielding the shovel was Hyman Peckarsky, head of the Great Lakes Construction company of Milwaukee which is building and operating the shopping center. Assisting him was his son, Irv Peckarsky.

Present for the ceremonies were representatives of three national companies, J. C. Penney company, National Food stores and Kresge's, who will have stores at the center as well as others taking part in the construction and Neenah-Menasha Chamber of Commerce officials.

Welcomes Companies

Lyall C. Stilp, Chamber of Commerce president, welcomed the companies to the Twin Cities and said it was one of the best things to come to the Twin Cities lately.

Among those present at the ground breaking were Fred Eustice, manager of the Penney store at Appleton, representing that firm; Armin Weber of the Wisconsin Lubricating and Oil corporation, whose station adjoins the center; David R. "Jim" Courtney of Courtney Plummer, Inc.; John Konrad, Chamber of Commerce executive secretary; George Zagel, Milwaukee architect; Arthur Brazy, Milwaukee, district superintendent of the Kresge company, and John Didlo, manager of its Oshkosh store; Robert Hart of the Milwaukee stores; E. J. Youngerman, Milwaukee, leasing agent; and Sterling H. Albert, senior vice president, Daniel J. Bertz, assistant vice president, both of Milwaukee, and William R. Thompson, Appleton manager, all of Mortgage Associates, Inc., which is financing the shopping center project.

William Zeininger to Seek 7th Council Term

Menasha — William Zeininger, 357 Ahnapp street, Thursday was issued nomination papers for the post of Third ward alderman. He will seek the post now held by Lee Rathner, who has not indicated whether he will seek reelection.

Zeininger has served six previous terms as Third ward city council representative. He was elected in 1941, 1943, 1946, 1948, 1951 and 1953. He is retired.

Modern Annie Oakley Has Weight Problems

"You'd think that Annie Oakley's main worry would be the next target. But 'taint so. Gail Davis, the girl sharpshooter who plays the role of Annie in the movies and on television worries more about hitting the right combination to lose weight.

"I'm always on a diet when I'm in a show or making a movie. But when I let up for a while, wild horses can't keep me from hot fudge sundaes," says the 115-pound blue-eyed beauty, in New York to star at the rodeo at Madison Square Garden.

Gail has a roomful of equipment that spells out exercise. She has a vibrating table, bar bells, a belt massager, electric bicycle, electric hand vibrator, a beauty board. She supplements indoor exercise with outdoor exercise.

Athletic
I swim in the pool, play golf, tennis, ride horses, walk and ride a bicycle," she says, with a sigh. "And I concentrate on low calorie energy foods."

Gail learned how to shoot tin cans off a fence in her home-town near Little Rock, Ark., with a .22 rifle, majored in dramatics at the University of Texas, met Gene Autry, who taught her how to shoot a pistol, went off to Hollywood where she has made 14 movies in the last 10 years.

"It's practice that makes perfect in shooting," Gail explains. "We had an advantage in Arkansas. Daddy and I used to go out in the woods and hit targets, but neither of us ever suspected I would be a gun girl. I wanted to be a nurse, and daddy, who was a doctor, kept hoping I would follow him in medicine."

Decorating Hobby
Gail's hobby is decorating her home in Studio City, Calif., where she lives with her husband, Richard Pierce, and 7-year-old daughter Terrie-Jean.

"I'm always tearing out a wall here and there. I had a brainstorm about a year ago and decided to take out the front of the house, with a little help of course. The main idea was to make the living room wider and longer. It was supposed to be finished in three months but it has taken about a year."

If you haven't begun such a project but have been thinking about it, "don't," advises Gail. "It would be better to buy another house. It takes so much out of your life to remodel one. But now here I am getting itchy fingers all over again," she laughs.

But next time she says she will get the right person to do the job and make sure she has a firm estimate. This last job ran three times the original estimate.

Winneconne chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, held the annual Christmas party Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wirch, retiring worthy patron and matron, presiding.

Plans for the joint installation of officers of Winneconne lodge 186 and the chapter were completed to be held in the Masonic hall at 8 p.m. Dec. 22.

Serving on the refreshment committee were Mrs. Verna Clark, Mrs. Sarah Bersch and Carl Kolodzik.

ped Stephenson, Mich., 56-40 to boost their record to 8-0. The Zephyrs, although they won by from 10 to 12 points, came up with only "so-so" efforts in defeating Stevens Point Pacelli, Premontre and Pennings in their last three starts.

Their shooting was off and the passing and general floor work below par. Their 80-45 trouncing of the reformatory earlier this week may be an indication that they are returning to the form they displayed, against Milwaukee Don Bosco, St. Benedict and Milwaukee North.

Fine Team Effort The Zephyrs came up with a fine team effort in shellacking the state institution. Outstanding, in particular, were Jim Koerner, who scored 25 points and who, along with Jerry Laemmrich, rebounded well, and Tony Rechner and Bill Becker, who played good floor games.

For the Zephyrs, Saturday's game will be its last league test until Jan. 16 when they play at Fond du Lac Springs. Their next action will be a holiday tournament at Marinette Dec. 29-30. They open against Marshfield Columbus. Other entries are Little Chute St. John and the host Cavaliers.

Menasha — Menasha's Extension cagers close their pre-vacation schedule with a Saturday night game at Sheboygan.

The Trotters currently hold third place in the University of Wisconsin Extension Division Basketball conference with their 3-2 record. Sheboygan trails them "by a game with 2-3. Wausau leads with 6-0 and Racine, which already has played more than half of its contests, has 7-1.

Sheboygan lost to Wausau 67-50 in its first outing and then bested Marinette 61-51. The Chair city five tripped Kenosha 97-94 in a triple overtime, was upset by Green Bay 73-72 and fell below the 500 mark with a 67-53 loss to Racine last weekend.

Menasha lost to Racine in its opener, then won two straight, and lost to Wausau in an overtime before returning to the winning track with a 4-point triumph over winless Manitowoc last weekend. Menasha's leading scorer is Bob Mortell, who has 79 points in five games to rank in a tie for 10th in the conference point race. John Kobelski and Robert Godez are the top Sheboygan sharpshooters with 77 apiece to tie for 11th and 12th.

For Menasha, Saturday's game will be its last until Jan. 8 when it entertains Marinette. Marinette is at Green Bay Saturday in the only other weekend encounter.

Cagers Resume Series Against Long-Time Foes

Menasha — Neenah and Menasha resume series against long-time foes in their final pre-vacation Mid-Eastern conference games tonight. The Jays make their third home start in four conference games, playing host to New London. The Rockets are away for the third time in four games in a fracas at Kaukauna.

Menasha starters and their Mid-Eastern conference point totals are Dave Ristau (61), Bill Ritchie (58), Jim Stenson (51), Jay Drzewiecki (27) and Bill Prance (20) and for New London, Tom Laux (51), Dan Laux (49), Dick Emerich (27), Don Harold (13) and Paul Werner (9).

Neenah's starters include Jack Ankerson (59), Dick Wilson (46), Dave Burton (30), Tom Smith (31) and Forrest Hyde (4) and for Kaukauna, Leroy Weyenberg (47), Bill Borchardt (28), Myron Zachowski (38), Ken Kavanaugh (12) and Jim Steger (14).

Menashans Face Traveling Squad In Sunday Tangle

Menasha — The Menasha Macs will probably face the tallest team in their 12-year basketball history when they tangle with the Harlem Magicians at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Menasha High school gym. Their opponents will average an even 6-5.

Small man on the 7-player team is Marques Haynes, coach and organizer of the traveling unit. Haynes is 6-0. Sam "Boom" Wheeler and Josh Grider, who like Haynes got their pro start with the Harlem Globetrotters, are 6-4 and 6-3 respectively.

Arthur Smith is 6-8, Eugene Johnson and Paul "Morehouse" Martin, 6-7, and James Satterwhite is 6-6. Satterwhite, a product of Tennessee State university, was one of the leading cagers in the NAIA tournament at Kansas City last year. He is the only first year man on the squad. Wheeler has 14 years experience in pro ball. Haynes 13, Grider eight, Martin five, Johnson three and Smith two.

The main production will be preceded by a 2 p.m. game between the St. Patrick and St. John Grade school squads. Advance sale of tickets is now being conducted at Appleton, Neenah and Menasha outlets.

New London	1 2
Kaukauna	0 3
Menasha	0 3

Tonight's Games: Neenah at Kaukauna. Two Rivers at Kimberly. New London at Menasha. Clintonville at Shawano.

Menasha — Menasha's Jayvees entertain New London tonight as they bid for their first Mid-Eastern conference victory. Neenah attempts to break a 2-game losing string at the expense of Kaukauna on the latter's court.

Clintonville and Shawano, the league's two unbeaten teams, clash on the Shawano court and Kimberly and Two Rivers, deadlocked for third and fourth, square off at Kimberly.

Menasha takes a 2-4 overall record into its game against New London. The Bulldogs won over Kaukauna in their inaugural but bowed to Shawano and Clintonville the last two times out.

Neenah, after compiling a 3-game win chain, fell to Shawano 70-55 in one of the conference's highest scoring games in history Friday and then was edged by the unbeaten Clints on Saturday.

Kaukauna bowed to Two Rivers, New London and Kimberly in its three outings. Neenah's overall mark is 3-3.

Hortonville Trips Reedsville, 59-47

Hortonville 4	Omro 1
Reedsville 4	Denmark 2
Shiocton 4	Hilbert 2
Bear Creek 3	Winneconne 2
Freedom 3	Wrightstown 2

Thursday's Results:
Omro 51, Denmark 46.
Shiocton 59, Reedsville 47.
Freedom 57, Winneconne 35 (ot).
Bear Creek 52, Wrightstown 39.

Hortonville High's Polar Bears moved back into a tie for first place in the Little Nine conference here Thursday night with a decisive 59-47 victory over Reedsville. It was the Panthers' first loss, overall, in seven starts.

The defending champion Polar Bears, Reedsville and Shiocton—which beat Hilbert, 52-39, Thursday—are all deadlocked for the lead with 4-1 marks.

Freedom nipped Winneconne, 57-55, in overtime. In other Thursday games, Bear Creek beat Wrightstown, 52-39, and Omro stopped Denmark, 51-46.

Hortonville grabbed an 18-13 lead after one quarter and increased it the rest of the way in outbounding, outthrusting and — especially — outshooting the losers. Hortonville hit on an unofficial 50 per cent with 20 baskets in just 40 shots. Reedsville was bumping along at a cold 22 per cent on 17 for 77.

Huebner Hits 19
Ken Huebner, especially hot, with nine baskets, finished with 19 points for Hortonville and game honors. Gary Kohl and Larry Huebner lent double-figure support with 14 and 11, respectively. Big Rolie Zipperer was Reedsville's top threat with 18.

Hortonville collected 13 of 20 free throws, while Reedsville had little trouble against a cold-shooting (22 per cent) Hilbert team after the first quarter, which ended, 12-11, for the Chiefs. Shiocton widened its lead to 29-17 at halftime.

John Johnson, 6-foot-1 forward, operated well under the boards for Shiocton and led both teams in scoring, with 21 points. Shiocton made 10 of 19 free throws, while Hilbert sank 13 of 21.

5 Straight Free Throws
Freedom's Vern Bowers hit five straight clutch free throws down the stretch to give the Irish the win. The first trio pulled Freedom into a 51-all tie with 13 seconds to go in regulation time.

He had two more in the extra period and Ron Van Rossum hit a basket and Jim Beyer two foul shots as the Irish led during the entire overtime. Dale Johnson, who finished with 17 points for Winneconne honors, scored a pair of buckets for the Wolves in the extra period.

Bowers wound up with 22 points. Freedom made two fewer baskets than Winneconne, but poured in 15 of 20 free throw tries to the losers' 9-for-14.

Bear Creek led all the way in dispatching Wrightstown to remain in a fourth-place tie. Dennis Bechard paced the winners with 16 points while Tom McClone coined 13. Danny Lamers of Wrightstown potted 20 for game honors.

Ron Doro led Omro with 18 points, while Tom Kuehn added 13. Lowell Hansen topped Denmark with 11.

Scratch Totals Rolled in the Thursday Men's Leagues.
Bea Prunuske collected 198-544 totals, Jeanette Westfall 500 and Dorothy Kolgen 191.

Twin City Bottling holds the lead with a 274-81 record. Its spread is 3 1/2 games.

Jim Sherman tallied a 586 series in the Kimberly-Clark Main Office league Thursday night at Muench's. Fred St. John bowled a 557 trio.

Purchasing and Woodlands are deadlocked for first place with 251-161 records. They have a 2-1 game advantage over the next two teams.

Carl Stridde's 550 trio was the top total in the Thursday night Winchester — Clayton league at Muench's. Brecklin's Viking holds first place by five games.

GOP Honors Pickard at Testimonial

cans and the Wisconsin citizens without a great amount of expenditure."

He mentioned that some newspapers often say a person is the party organization candidate and play it up as if it is something sinister. He said he did not like the idea of labeling a party organization candidate as something unsatisfactory.

"The party organization does considerable work and analysis and if it believes one candidate is the best, it is done with considerable thought."

Pickard also took issue with the idea that businessmen should not identify themselves with a political party but must hold back. "I don't think I have had any adverse results from the public which knew I was a Republican and I don't think it would be different if I were a Democrat."

He commended large and small industries for encouraging their employees to develop an interest in politics as good citizenship. "Make up your mind and get in to do your duty," he emphasized.

"Whichever party does the best job in preparation and the best in candidates always wins," he said as he viewed 1960 as a good year for recovery by the Republican party in the state and nation.

Cong. Van Pelt paid tribute to Pickard for the counsel he had received from him and for the job he has done for the county and for the state Republican organizations.

State Chairman
Jasper, as state chairman, said it is easy to get busy in a party when you have shoo-in candidates "but you wonder where they were when the seed was planted and ground work done." He praised Pickard as a person who gave of himself and did the job well, even under trying and adverse circumstances.

The resolution passed by the state Republican executive committee said the Neenah man had "willingly and without stint devoted untiring efforts in successfully carrying out the grave and difficult responsibilities of his position, and frequently with substantial sacrifice of personal time and expense, had never failed, when called upon, to working diligently in meeting urgent or unusual expenses of the Republican party of Wisconsin."

Directions Given for Tote Bag to Carry Books, Lunch

BY CAPPY DICK

From an ordinary shopping bag (that costs about five cents) a boy or girl can easily make a compact tote bag suitable for carrying school books and lunch. Here's how to do it:

Start with the bag folded as it was when you got it at the store (This is shown in Figure 1) with the bottom of the bag folded up against the side.

Fold the bag in half, bringing the edge of the bottom up, even with the top, as in Figure 2. With scissors, cut along three sides of a rectangle in the bottom of the bag. The rectangle should be an inch and a half deep and seven inches long. The cuts are shown in Figure 2 — A to B to C and C to D. The uncut side, running from A to D, is to be folded into the opening. This will create a compartment into which you can slip sandwiches, fruit and candy (Figure 4). With a stapler or needle and thread, fasten the top edge of the bottom to the side of the bag near the handle. The second compartment of the tote bag opens at the handles and, because of the expanding sides of the original bag, will be big enough to carry several books. You'll find this to be very handy. Simply carry it by the handles as the boy is doing in Figure 4. Being of paper, it won't last if it gets very wet in a storm, but a new one will be easy to make when you need it.

Mass Banishment of 10 Jams Penalty Box in Montreal

By The Associated Press
Bedlam broke out in Montreal Thursday night with Referee Eddie Powers assessing 24 penalties—including 10 after a second-period free-for-all that involved all the players on the ice except the goalies.
After the brawl was over, the Canadiens had drubbed the Toronto Maple Leafs, 8-2, to snap a National Hockey league winless streak at six games. In a more serene game, the Detroit Red Wings edged the Chicago Black Hawks, 3-2, to stretch their unbeaten skid to six games.
Billy Harris of Toronto and Jean-Guy Talbot of Montreal ignited the big fracas. Then Gerry James, playing his first game of the season for the Leafs, and the Canadiens' Dickie Moore joined in.

Woman Rolls 780 But Just Misses Winning $1,000

Oklahoma City—Jean Cowger bowled a 780 3-game series Thursday night, one of the highest ever for women, but still missed out on a $1,000 prize.
Miss Cowger, bowling in a mixed league, fired scratch games of 246-256-278 for a record league series of 780, high for men or women here. She carries a 175 average.
The heartbreaker came in the last line. Needing a 279 to qualify for a standing offer of $1,000 from Oklahoma City bowling proprietors, Miss Cowger missed the No. 10 pin in her last ball of the tenth frame. That left her with a 278.

Badgers, MU Will Duel in Milwaukee

Warriors Favored by 5 Points Over Young Wisconsin Quint; Don Kojis Is Averaging 22.1

Milwaukee —(U)— Marquette, primarily because it is playing on its home floor, is rated a 5-point favorite to defeat Wisconsin when the teams resume basketball rivalry here Saturday night.
The Warriors defeated the Badgers, 76-46, last year. The teams had not played since 1953 when the Badgers won, 64-56.
Wisconsin has gained 36 victories against 18 defeats since the teams started basketball competition in 1917.
Depends on Veterans
Coach Eddie Hickey of Marquette said he would have to depend on his veterans to handle the Badgers who have been improving with every start. He said that the Wisconsin coach, John Erickson, has several "up and coming youngsters who can give us a lot of trouble."
Don Kojis, Marquette center who has averaged 22.1 points this year; and Walt Mangham, who is second in scoring, with 16.4 points, are expected to lead the Warriors in the arena game.
Wisconsin has won one of five starts in pre-conference games. The lone victory was over Loyola of Chicago.
Erickson said he planned to use his usual combination of starters that includes Bob Barneson and Tom Hughbanks at the forward positions, Fred Clow at center and Marty Gharritty and Jack Ulwelling at guards.

Scott Favored Over Paret

Charley Guns For 7th in Row Tonight

New York —(U)— Charley Scott is the No. 1 contender, winner of six straight, and anxious to get a title crack at welterweight champion Don Jordan.
But he doesn't intend to sit idly by and wait while dust gathers on his money musts.
So tonight, the sleek, stiff-necked Philadelphian guns for his seventh in a row in a television (NBC 9 p.m. CST) 10-rounder with middleweight Benn "Kid" Paret of Cuba at Madison Square garden.
Scott, 23, 148 pounds, is a 5-2 favorite to whip Paret, 22, and 154.
Jordan was unexpectedly flattened in the fourth round by Frederico Thompson of Argentina in a non-title fight to Buenos Aires last week. Philadelphia promoter Herman Taylor has offered Jordan a $75,000 guarantee to risk his crown against Scott.
The champ may not have too much time to make up his mind, either. The NBA has given him until Jan. 15 to sign for a title defense.
On his record and rating, Scott deserves the shot. Unbeaten in 13 months, he has whipped, among others, Ike Logart, Ralph Dupas and "Sugar" Hart. He stopped Hart, then the top contender, in the ninth round last Oct. 19 and became top banana himself.
Scott's record is 24-9, including 13 knockouts. Paret's record is 28-6-2 including eight kayos.
Paret is just the opponent but he could make it a lively show. The muscular Cuban shoots his punches in bursts of four and six at a clip. His punches look good but lack the power Scott fires in short, devastating combinations.

Packers Post 3rd Best Mark In Defense

Rank 2nd Only to Giants in Aerial Defensive Record

BY ART DALEY
Post-Crescent News Service
Green Bay — The Packers scored 74 points in their historic sweep of the 2-game West coast series, averaging 37 per game.
These facts were pointed out to Coach Vince Lombardi on the flight home. . . to which he answered:
"That's fine, but what about the defense!"
Vince, in case you haven't guessed, is sold on defense. He's convinced that you can't win in this league without a good defense. "How do you think we won our first three games? Defense!" Lombardi asked and answered.

This proves that Vince doesn't operate on a single track. The man has been in offense all his football life, as it were—an offensive guard at Fordham, installer of the T attack for the Fordham freshman in '47 and offense coach of Army and the Giants for 10 years.
What about the defense?
The Packers ranked third in the league in yards allowed, and that's a musical rose for defense coaches Phil Bengtson and Norb Hecker and the defense player platoon. Green Bay allowed 3,522 yards rushing and passing. The Giants' fine defenders gave up only 2,843 for first, and the Steelers were second with 3,342.
Green Bay was the No. 2 team in the league on yards allowed by passing — 1,782. Tops was New York with 1,582. Lombardi always said, "they'll run on us" and the Bays finished sixth in yards allowed by rushing. The Bays gave up 1,770 against the Giants' best of 1,261.
Clubbed Twice
The Packers allowed 246 points, which is a high average of around 20 per game — but only two teams really clubbed the Bays—the Rams in Milwaukee, 45-6, and the Colts in Baltimore, 38-21.
Remove those 83 points and the Packers' point-allowed total goes down to 163—an average of 16.3, which is a championship figure. The Bays twice had 28 points scored against them — the Bears, 28-17, in Chicago and the Colts (28-24) in Milwaukee. And those are the two games the Packers feel they should have won!
The Packers started on a terrific defensive track this year, giving the Bears three, the Lions 10, and the 49ers 20 in the home sweep at the start. In the 5-game loss skid, the Bays allowed 45 to the Rams, 38 to the Colts, 20 to the Giants, 28 to the Bears and 28 to the Colts. The 4-game win streak saw the Bays allow the Redskins a 20, the Lions 17, the Rams 20, and the 49ers 14.
In the 3-game win streak the Bays allowed an average of only 11 points. The average allowance in the 4-game was slightly over 12. The "AA" in the losing ride was a hold-your-hat 31-8.

UW '11' Takes Off Saturday For Pasadena

Milt Bruhn Calls A Halt to Hard Workouts

—Madison —(U)— Coach Milt Bruhn has called a halt to hard workouts for his Rose bowl-bound University of Wisconsin football team.
"We are ready for a game Saturday," the coach said Thursday after cutting short the Badger drill. "We don't want it that way, because we have another couple of weeks before the game."
Light Workout
A light workout was planned for the Badgers today. They will take off by plane Saturday for Pasadena where they meet Washington in the New Year's day classic.
Bruhn said that his team should be in top shape for the game. Dale Hackbart and Bob Zeman, two of his veteran backs, worked out with the squad Thursday after recovering from minor ailments.
Billy Hobbs, another veteran back who also has been out with an injury, is expected to be able to start practice next week.

Banks Leads In Intentional Walks for '59

Cincinnati —(U)— Who is the most feared batter with a man on base in the National league?
The answer is Ernie Banks. The Chicago Cubs' slugger was walked purposely 20 times in 1959, the official averages showed today.
Hank Aaron of Milwaukee was next in line with 17 intentional walks, followed by Harry Anderson of Philadelphia, 14.
Ed Mathews of Milwaukee, who batted ahead of Aaron and mipped Banks for the home run title, 46-45, was walked intentionally only twice.
Slugging Title
Aaron, in addition to his victory in the batting race, won the National league slugging title. He collected 400 total bases in 629 times at bat for a .636 slugging mark. His total base aggregate was the highest since Stan Musial of St. Louis posted 429 in 1948.
Jim Gilliam, Los Angeles lead off hitter, led the NL in bases on balls with 96.
Wally Post of Philadelphia struck out the most times, 101.
Del Crandall, Milwaukee catcher, hit into the most double plays—24.

Williams Says Salary Was $60,000 in '59

Miami, Fla. —(U)— Boston Red Sox slugger Ted Williams knocked $40,000 off his reported 1959 salary of $100,000 in court testimony Thursday.
The 41-year-old home run star said the Sox paid him only $60,000. He said his income from all sources is $83,000.
Would Get Contract
The Miami Herald asked Red Sox General Manager Bucky Harris about Williams salary statement and quoted Harris as replying: "Well, I guess he knows what he was getting."
Williams said he hadn't received a 1960 contract and doubted whether injuries and age would let him play.
Harris told the Herald Williams would receive a contract for the coming season.
Williams made his statement during an appearance before Circuit Judge George Holt, in opposing an increase from $100 to $250 per month in support for his daughter.
Williams said he was willing to pay the bills of his daughter — by a wife who divorced him in 1955 — but maintained the bills did not total more than the present allowance. The petition of Mrs. Doris Tridico, Williams' former wife, was taken under advisement.

Football Bowl Parade Opens With Three Games Saturday

Four 'Rated' Teams Appear in Liberty and Bluebonnet Classics

By The Associated Press
Three college football bowl games—the Liberty, the Bluebonnet and the Holiday—are on tap Saturday, with a national television audience getting a look-see at the post-season action.
Alabama (7-1-2) opposes Penn State (8-2) in the Liberty bowl at Philadelphia. Clemson (8-2) meets Texas Christian (8-2) in the Bluebonnet classic at Houston. And Lenoir Rhyne (10-0) of North Carolina plays Texas A&I (11-1) in the NAIA Holiday bowl at St. Petersburg, Fla.
CBS will telecast both the Holiday attraction, which starts at 11:30 a.m. CST, and the Bluebonnet, beginning at 2:30 p.m. The Liberty bowl game will be seen at 12 noon, CST, on NBC.
Two Newcomers
The Liberty and Bluebonnet bowls are newcomers to the post-season events. The promoters of the games, hoping for financial successes and good weather, have lined up four top teams despite keen competition from the established bowls.
TCU was the nation's seventh ranking team in the final Associated Press poll. Alabama was listed tenth, Clemson eleventh and Penn State twelfth.
The Holiday bowl, sponsored by the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, has been billed for the small college title. It matches the survivors of a pair of preliminary playoffs.
The Liberty bowl is expected to draw a crowd of 50,000 to Philadelphia stadium. Both

Colts' Davis Runs Well in Practice

Milt Davis, defensive halfback, was running around freely as the Colts resumed practice. Davis was unable to play in last Saturday's game against the Los Angeles Rams because of a pulled leg muscle.
Davis had intercepted seven passes before being hurt.

Syracuse '11' Wins 5 Major Team Titles

Orangemen Set Mark In Margin Between Offense, Defense

By the Associated Press
Syracuse never had an undefeated football team before 1959 and it never won a statistical team title. Then the Cotton bowl-bound Orangemen went whole hog and romped off with five of the nine major titles, one NCAA record and one second-best of all.

And Syracuse did it so convincingly that it's hardly worth mentioning who was second in total yardage, rushing, scoring, total defense and resistance against rushing, listed in the final NCAA Service bureau statistics.

In the areas where the Syracuse team left room for competition, Stanford easily took forward passing honors, along with a half dozen lesser records; Alabama edged out Montana in pass defense in the final game and also showed the highest percentage of enemy pass interceptions; Mississippi was stingiest in allowing scores and Brigham Young was first in scoring.

Offense Over Defense

The Syracuse record came in the margin of offense over defense—a matter of 355.3 yards per game. The Orangemen gained an average of 451.1 yards and yielded only 92.8 a game. Alabama's 1945 team outgained the opposition by 311.8 yards a game.

The Syracuse defense figures, 92.6 yards overall and 19.3 by rushing were bettered only by the 78.6 and 17.0 posted by Penn State in 1947. The other major Syracuse figures: scoring—39 points a game; passing—139.7 yards a game for seventeenth place but first in touchdown passes with 20.

Stanford's Dick Norman accounted for 1-game team records in completions and accuracy when he hit 34 of 39 against California. And it was mainly his throwing that gave the Indians a batch of season records for teams playing only major opponents.

They were 176 completions, 2,278 yards total, 227.8 yards per game and a margin of 40.8 yards a game over runner Marquette.

Johnny Hutchins Earns Job as Indianapolis Manager by Reducing

Indianapolis — Johnny Hutchins, jovial former Cincinnati and Boston Braves pitcher, earned himself a triple-A class baseball managership by reducing from 275 to 220 pounds. His appointment as manager of Indianapolis in the American association was announced Thursday.

President Owen J. Bush of the Indianapolis club said the announcement was delayed pending hospital tests to determine if Hutchins was in good physical condition.

Time Out with Mike Drew

Suddenly making an about-face after years of subterfuge in Fox Cities area prep basketball circles, the Shiocton High school Chiefs continue to turn doubters into believers.

The first leg on their comeback was a runnerup finish in the 1958-9 Little Nine conference race. Then, the Chiefs won the Manawa sub-district tournament, bringing home the first athletic trophy in the approximate 50-year history of the school.

In the past week, the Chiefs have made noise with two resounding triumphs — a 63-60 double overtime success over Hortonville and a 50-45 job over Xavier. Both wins were accomplished on foreign courts and both were over highly-thought-of quintets.

Eighth Loss

Hortonville's loss was just its eighth in its 59 Little Nine conference games under the coaching of Russ Tiedemann. Xavier's setback was its first in six starts under Gene Clark.

The Chiefs are an especially interesting club for several reasons. The five starters went all the way in both the Xavier and Hortonville games. Lack of a solid bench could hurt Coach John Bowers, but the Chiefs committed just 16 fouls in the two games — less than two per man per game.

This, despite the fact that Shiocton has been solid defensively. Before hitting just 45 against Shiocton, Xavier had been averaging about 68 per game and never was held below 60.

Before Thursday evening's game with Hilbert, the only tilts in which the opposition has managed to tally more than 45 markers against the Chiefs' 1-2-2 zone defense were in the 54-53 loss to Reedsville and the win over Hortonville. The enemy had one overtime in the first and two in the second to do extra scoring.

Incidentally, Reedsville went into the Shiocton clash with two games under its belt. Shiocton was opening its season.

The five Shiocton starters

Two Spartan Cagers Ineligible; Gowens Has Doubtful Status

East Lansing, Mich. — Two basketball players will be knocked off the Michigan State university team by scholastic ineligibility during the winter term, it was announced Thursday. Status of a third star is doubtful.

Starting guard Jim Bechinski, junior from Michigan City, Ind., and sophomore forward Bill Pauline of Salem, Ohio, both will be ineligible because each flunked one course in the fall term.

Starting center Art Gowens, junior from Lansing and high Spartan scorer this season, is a question mark since some of his grades have been held up.

The players will be eligible until the Wisconsin game Jan. 2 but will be unable to compete the remainder of the season.

Ripon College Matmen Beat Vikings

The Ripon college varsity wrestling team defeated Lawrence, 21-15, Wednesday in the final pre-holiday start for both squads.

Four of the eight matches ended in pins, with two going to a decision and two being forfeited.

Sophomores Dick Kaufman and Jim Eastmann, of the Vikes, pinned their foes. Midwest conference heavyweight champion Bob Smith earned the remaining five points on a forfeit win.

Bluejays Fall, 47-26

Menasha — A strong second-half sparked Kaukauna's Freshmen to a 47-26 win over Menasha here Thursday afternoon. The victory was the third straight for the Ghosts and kept them in a first place tie with Neenah.

Roosevelt Triumphs

Taking a 27-12 lead at the half, the Roosevelt Junior High school freshman basketball team coasted in to a 48-38 victory over Madison Thursday afternoon on the losers' court.

The victory evened Roosevelt's record at 1-1. Madison suffered its third straight loss. Center Mike Woehler poured home 15 points to lead the victors with his principal assistance coming from guard Dick Schroeder (11).

John Kramer led the losers with 12 tallies. Madison got as close as six points (40-34) in the fourth quarter but defending Fox Valley Freshman league co-champion Roosevelt staved off the comeback.

Neenah jumped off to a 25-8 lead at the end of the first period and never trailed. Wilson came back with 17 points in the second period while Neenah dropped to 10, but the lead could not be overcome.

Chicago — The $298,000 Petersen classic, bowling's richest singles tournament, opens Saturday and a record field of 11,840 keggers will finish June 28.

First prize is $25,000 for the golden anniversary celebration of the meet.

Among the entries are 500 women. Everybody bowls from scratch in 8 games across 16 lanes with total pinfall deciding the outcome. Don Bartz of Milwaukee won the last tourney with 1,7

Utah Quintet Stays Unbeaten

Howie Carl Leads DePaul to Sixth Straight Victory

By the Associated Press
Jack Gardner, the milk-swilling Utah coach, may finally have the makings for that national championship team he's been after since he got into the college basketball business 23 years ago.

Even when his Utes look bad, they are managing to win easily — such as Thursday night when they scored their fifth straight victory, 88-69, over a Washington State club that had won four of five previous starts.

They're averaging 93 points a game in those five triumphs — two over Wichita, and one apiece against Los Angeles State, New Mexico State and Washington State.

6-9 Soph Center
The difference this time around could be a mobile, big center Gardner's otherwise strong teams have lacked since he shifted from Kansas State to Utah in 1953.

The newcomer, joining a handful of holdovers from last year's Skyline championship team, is a 6-9 sophomore from Los Angeles with the can't-miss name of Billy "Foothills" McGill. So far "Foothills" McGill has let him feel his way into big time competition, but he's still managed to score 102 points — a 20.4 average.

DePaul won its sixth straight, 77-54, over Ohio university as little Howie Carl scored 22 points. Missouri (5-0) trailed at the half 27-25 before coming on to crush Rice, 77-48. Texas A&M (5-0) beat Houston for the second time, 64-62.

Dayton, led by Frank Case's 18 points, snapped Drake's 4-game win streak, 71-54.

Sam Cook Bowls 559 In Valley Iron Loop

Sam Cook's 559 led the latest round of Valley Iron Works bowling at the Barn tavern. He's on the Foundry team which trails the first-place Shorts (30-15) by four games.

TV Viewer Claims Colts' Units Tips Off Plays

Baltimore —(AP)— An eagle-eyed football fan claims he saw quarterback Johnny Unitas of the Baltimore Colts tipping off plays 3,000 miles away.

The fan in Arlington, Va., watched the Colts win the Western conference National Football League title in Los Angeles last week on television.

According to the viewer, when Unitas put his hands on hips before the ball was centered he always threw a pass. When he kept his hands at his sides, a running play followed.

Coach "Weeb" Ewbank said he was sure that Unitas is not tipping off his plays.

"But we'll run the movies again to make sure," he added cautiously.

Joe Brown Gets Two $100,000 Fight Offers

Houston, Tex. —(AP)— World lightweight champion Joe Brown has a couple of $100,000 offers for fights, but he's taking his time about deciding which he's going to accept.

His manager, Lou Viscusi, said Brown, who injured his right hand in a non-title bout with Joe Parks at New Orleans last week, needed a rest.

One offer was from George Parnassus of Los Angeles for a title fight with Ramundo Torres of Mexico. The other, which came Thursday, was from Ron Waller and would call for Brown to meet Mauro Vasquez of Mexico at Los Angeles.

Patterson Floors One Of 2 Exhibition Foes

North Bay, Ont. —(AP)— Pointing for a still-to-be arranged world heavyweight title fight with champion Ingemar Johansson, No. 1 challenger Floyd Patterson continued his Ontario-Quebec exhibition tour with a pair of 2-rounders before 600 fans here Wednesday night.

Punching in flurries, Patterson floored Ritchie Nor-dan with a left-right combination in the closing round of one bout. The other was against Billy Tisdale. Earlier, Patterson said he is confident that a more cautious attitude would help him regain the title he lost to the Swedish fighter in New York last June.

Stevens Point '5' Defeats Oshkosh State, 75 to 71

By The Associated Press
University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, Eau Claire, Stevens Point and Stout won Wisconsin College conference basketball games Thursday night.
UW-M beat Whitewater, 90-74. Jerry Grochowski of UW-M set the scoring pace with 27 points.
Eau Claire, paced by Al Urnes who scored 21 points, beat Superior 75-68.
Stevens Point, with Sam Antcliffe leading the way on 20 points, beat Oshkosh, 75-71. Ron Dibellus, of the Titans, led all scorers with 23 points.
Stout beat La Crosse, 87-75, with John Mhaliko of the winners the top scorer with 28 points.

Celtics 10th Straight Builds 5-Game Lead

By the Associated Press
The rampaging Boston Celtics are riding the crest of a 10-game winning streak in the National Basketball association.

The Celts kept their skel intact by defeating the New York Knicks, 137-126, in the only game played Thursday night. In gaining its twenty-third victory in 27 starts, Boston opened up a 5-game lead over runnerup Philadelphia in the Eastern division.

The Washington Caps of the old Basketball Association of America, the forerunner of the present NBA, set the mark of 17 in a row in the 1946-7 season.

Tommy Heinsohn and Bob Cousy supplied most of the scoring impetus for the Celts. Heinsohn sank 32 points and Cousy 31, but New York's Richie Gerin captured individual laurels with a 42-point harvest.

Colt Fans Go To Court for Game Tickets

Baltimore —(AP)— A group of Baltimore Colt fans has gone to court in an effort to get seats for the National Football league championship game.

The Colts play the New York Giants for the title here Dec. 27.

The West Baltimore Sportsman's Club, Inc. brought the suit Wednesday against John Shipley, a tavernkeeper, and Baltimore Football, Inc.

The club claims Shipley has been buying season tickets for club members for the past six years. But the suit says he refused to sell them the title game tickets made available to all season ticket holders.

Thirteen $8 tickets are involved. The suit claims Shipley said he had been offered $50 apiece for the tickets by an unnamed New York agency.

BOWLING Ball Tip

To find the ball that fits you, try the thumb hole first. Put your thumb in the hole, full depth, and move it around to make sure there's no binding friction on the sides. With your thumb still, fall depth in the thumb hole, extend your two middle fingers over the finger holes. If the ball is the right fit, the second joints of your fingers will extend at least a quarter of an inch over the inside edge of the holes.

Spartans Trip Nebraska in 2 Overtimes

Lance Olson Hits
21 to Pace MSU
In 82-80 Win

By The Associated Press

Michigan State wrung out a double overtime 82-80 victory at Nebraska Thursday night to remain one of three unbeaten basketball teams in the Big Ten.

The defending champion Spartans' next stop on their western trip is at Wyoming Saturday night. MSU now has a 3-0 record.

A last second shot from the keyhole by Horace Walker provided victory over the Huskers after the score was tied, 68-68, to send the game into a first overtime that ended 72-72.

Walker Hits 20
Four Spartans hit in double figures, topped by Lance Olson with 21 points and Walker with 20.

Ohio puts its 5-0 record on the line at Butler Friday night and UCLA invades Purdue (3-2).

The Big Ten's other unbeaten team, Illinois (3-0), is host Saturday to Ohio university. Other Saturday games send Oklahoma to Iowa (4-1), Detroit to Indiana (3-1), Missouri to Minnesota (2-2), Boston U. to Northwestern (1-2), Wisconsin (1-4) to Marquette and Tennessee to Michigan (0-3) in an afternoon regionally-televized contest.

New Israeli Series to Honor Three Pioneer Settlements

BY SYD KRONISH

Three pioneer settlements will be honored and depicted on a new set of stamps to be issued by Israel. Some of these settlements are now celebrating their 50th and 75th anniversaries.

The 60-pruta will show Merhavyah, a collective settlement founded 50 years ago. It is situated southeast of Haifa in the Valley of Jezreel. The 120-pruta illustrates a view of Yesud Ha-Ma'ala in the Upper Jordan valley. It is celebrating its 75th birthday.

The 180-pruta will picture Degania, an agricultural settlement at the southern end of Lake Kinnereth founded 50 years ago.

The cooperative settlements were established by groups of young pioneers from many lands at the turn of the century, reports the Israel Philatelic agency in America.

Still searching for their elusive first victory, the Appleton High school JV basketball Terrors conclude the 1959 portion of their season at 6:45 in Fond du Lac tonight.

The Terrors have dropped five straight games, but only the first and the fifth by decisive margins. In between, they lost three contests by a total of seven points.

In their last start they played for the first time without high-scoring Mike Lee, who had been promoted to the varsity. They missed Lee—totaling just 21 points to Manitowoc's 47. Only Jack Wendt (who hit 11 markers) was able to get untracked offensively.

Fond du Lac has split even in two league starts, losing to Sheboygan North, 37-36, and then beating Oshkosh, 39-36. John Barknecht wired 16 in the Oshkosh game while Tony Meade hit 10.

Chronic Alcoholism or Defect In Nutrients Harms Brain

Chicago — Chronic alcoholism, or an associated nutritional defect, is related to brain deterioration, the American Medical Association said. The report was made by three doctors of the neurology service, Massachusetts general hospital, and the department of neurology, Harvard medical school, who studied 50 severe alcoholics to determine the effect of alcohol on the nervous system.

The relationship of brain deterioration to chronic alcoholism has been a controversial matter for many years. Drs. Maurice Victor, Raymond D. Adams and Elliott L. Mancall said.

46 Men Studied

They said their study had convinced them that a relationship does exist between the degeneration of that part of the brain concerned in the coordination of movements and "the excessive imbibition of alcohol, or, perhaps more likely, to an associated nutritional defect."

The 46 men and 4 women studied were afflicted with remarkably similar symptoms, the doctors reported. In almost every instance they lacked muscular coordination of gait and of the legs.

The ailment should not be confused "with the transient variety which occurs in alcoholic patients after a severe drinking bout," they pointed out.

Other Factor

Of all the factors considered as possible causes of the brain damage, the doctors said, only two seemed of importance—alcohol and malnutrition. "Although the abuse of alcohol was a feature common to all our patients, six patients had actually been abstinent for varying periods of time before the onset of their cerebellar disease," they explained.

"It is difficult under such circumstances to accept the toxic effects of alcohol as the direct causative agent. Evidence, and examination indicated that fully three-quarters of the patients suffered from undernutrition when they were first seen by us."

"Malnutrition may also have been a factor in the remaining patients, who came to our attention only years after the onset of their illness, after a period of abstinence and concomitant improvement in their eating habits."

American Motors to Add 3rd Shift in '60

Milwaukee — American Motors reported Thursday that it would add a third shift at its Milwaukee body plant assembly line early next spring, boosting employment here by about 1,500 men.

E. W. Bernitt, Kenosha, vice president in charge of manufacturing, said the move would raise the number of workers at the body plant, now a record 9,966 to about 11,500.

He said that the Milwaukee program is part of an over-all expansion plan.

No Change in Eligibility for Vets' Pensions

A new pension act effective next July 1 in no way changes the basic eligibility for a veteran seeking a pension, Veterans Service Officer Francis D. Heesakker says.

The veteran still must be totally and permanently disabled from causes not traceable to his service, must have 90 days or more of honorable wartime service and an income below prescribed limits.

The new pension act of 1959 attempts to relate the amount of pension to need. Veterans with higher income will receive lower pension payments and those with smaller incomes will receive larger pensions when the law becomes effective.

Widows of World War II and Korean conflict veterans under the new pension act no longer will be required to show that the deceased veteran had a service-connected disability. Widows also must come within the income limitations, Heesakker said.

Detroit Paper Challenges District Court

Detroit — The Detroit News today challenged U.S. district court judges to hold its editor in contempt by disclosing details of a suit four of six judges had ordered suppressed. The Detroit Times and the Detroit Free Press, in effect, did the same thing.

All three Detroit dailies printed names and some other details in the suit. The News challenged contempt action in a page one editorial entitled "A Freedom Test."

Chief Judge Theodore Levin of the eastern district of Michigan and three associates joined Wednesday in signing a formal rule authorizing suppression of all details in pending civil lawsuits.

Judge Levin said the judges acted under what he termed "the inherent power" of the court. The rule provides that attorneys may ask the court to suppress a suit and that if any judge so orders, the clerk:

"Shall prevent all persons from having access to any of the papers in the suit, except these persons designated in the suit."

The newspapers reported the suit involves an architectural and engineering firm, differences among its top executives and a division of funds. A former bookkeeper for it faces embezzlement charges in state courts.

Both the News and Free Press have criticized the rule as "a gag" infringing on freedom of press and what they hold to be the people's right to information on public affairs.

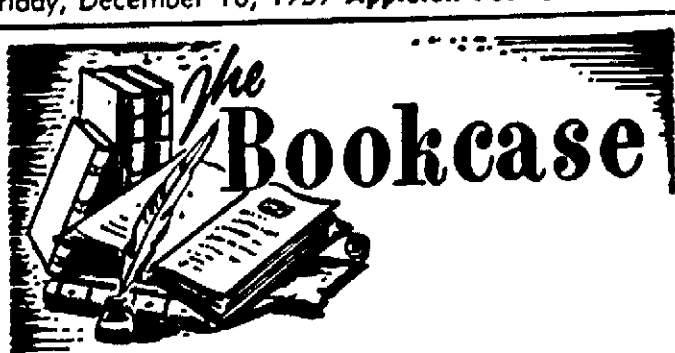

New Infantry Job to Guard Missile Sites

San Francisco — Gen. Bruce C. Clarke, the army's infantry boss, declares an increasingly important mission for the foot soldier is protecting missile launching sites. "As we build more and more pushbutton sites, they become more and more vulnerable to guerrillas or other ground forces," said Clarke, head of the army continental command.

"Any football fan knows you can't throw passes with the other team's rushers in your backfield."

Clarke made his first inspection visit Thursday to the sixth army headquarters at the Presidio.

Authentic American Heroes People New Flexner Book

BY W. G. ROGERS
Associated Press Arts Editor

(Mohawk Baronet: Sir William Johnson of New York, by James Thomas Flexner, Harper, $6.)

Two centuries ago up the wooded Mohawk river where you might expect nothing more elaborate than a wigwam, fort or at the most farmhouse, there was Johnson's hall.

A museum today, it was then described as a "truly grand and noble" structure of distinguished proportions, with paintings on the walls, fiddles and flutes for the musical, a blue parlor, a white parlor, a hall 15 feet wide, and a 100-pound dinner bell to summon sometimes 30 people to table.

Probably it was designed by Sir William himself, an Irish immigrant, second colonist to be dubbed a baronet, ranked historically with Benjamin Franklin, a warrior, a statesman to both whites and Indians and, as some foe charged, or some friend boasted, father of maybe 700 children.

Gets Indian Name
The Mohawks dubbed him with paint, decked him out with wampum, feathers, ribbons and porcupine quills, gave him a tomahawk, smoked the pipe with him and thus adopted him as their son Waraghiagee, which supposedly meant "a man who undertakes great things."

He not only undertook, he also accomplished. With the French as the constant enemy, but with the English so fuddled and fumbling they could do as much harm as the confessed foe, Sir William by dint of a soldier's arms and a diplomat's arts kept the Six Nations on the side of his king.

He conquered at the Battle of Lake George — his own name for that body of water — and got an early New York tuckertape parade for it.

Won the West

His Niagara victory "won the west," says Flexner, who also pictures his dominant role in the Pontiac uprising and the establishment of the Stanwix line in 1769.

Flexner's lengthy cast happens to include four men who presage as many colleges: Samuel Kirkland and Hamilton, Ephraim Williams and Williams, Lord Jeffrey and Amherst, and Eleazar Wheelock and Dartmouth.

There's none of the quietude of the academic grove in the primeval forests through which they fought, and anywhere there are scores of others from Abercromby to Zenger—the Englishman in uniform, the brave in breechcloth, the squaw in blanket or little or nothing.

But Sir William with his zest, bravery and intelligence, and his campaigns, diplomacy and countless dusky loves heads the list in his own right.

GI Eligibility Not Automatically Restored for Loan

A veteran's eligibility for a GI loan is not restored automatically when he sells his GI-purchased home and obtains a veterans administration release from liability to the government on the loan, Francis Heesakker, veteran service officer, warns.

Release of the veteran from liability to the government does not affect VA's guaranty on the loan. As long as the guaranty is outstanding, no restoration of GI loan rights can be extended the veteran, he said.

Even if the loan is paid in full, relieving VA of liability to the lender, a veteran's entitlement to another GI loan may be restored only when the property:

Was taken by a governmental agency for public use; was destroyed by natural hazard; or, was disposed of for compelling reasons, such as health, employment transfer, change to a better job in another city, or other reasons considered sufficient by the VA.

In such cases, Heesakker said, veterans should apply to the nearest VA office for restoration of entitlement.

Stocks Move Unevenly

Moderately Active Pace Continues;
Pattern Mixed

New York — The stock market continued to move unevenly early this afternoon with most trading activity centered in specially situated issues.

Turnover continued at Thursday's moderately active pace.

The market had a slight edge to the upside at the start, but as trading slackened there was slight change in prices. The overall pattern was hardly better than mixed.

The Big Three automakers managed only small gains while the independents barely changed.

Oils were firmer as the Interior Department proposed to let West Coast companies import more unfinished oil.

Alcoa added more than a point as the higher price situation in the industry attracted renewed buying.

Moderate gains were made by Fruehauf Trailer, Texaco, Northern Pacific, Allied Chemical Ford, Woolworth, Douglas Aircraft, Radio Corp. and American Telephone.

Lower included Phelps Dodge, Liggett & Myers and American Airlines.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 10 cents to $228.70 with the industrials up 10 cents, the rails up 40 cents and the utilities up 10 cents.

Milwaukee Banking Official Resigns

Milwaukee — John C. Lobb, vice chairman and executive vice president of the Marine corporation, a banking holding company, announced Thursday he had resigned to accept another position.

Lobb, 46, secretary of the state investment board from 1951 to 1955, said he would announce his future plans in a few days.

Bill Permitting Joint CD Leader Sent to Governor

A bill permitting cities, villages and counties to combine their civil defense coordinators in one man and one office has been passed by the state senate and sent to the governor.

Mayor Mitchell received word of senate passage today in a letter from State Sen. Lorge, Bear Creek, Republican.

As soon as the bill is signed into law, Mitchell said a meeting will be held with county officials to select a man to act as coordinator for both the county and Appleton.

The combination job was suggested early this year after a feud developed between County Coordinator Schiltz and City Coordinator Beltrone, but the move was not permitted under existing state law.

2-Year Term For Exposure

Ogdensburg Man Sentenced Under Repeater Statutes

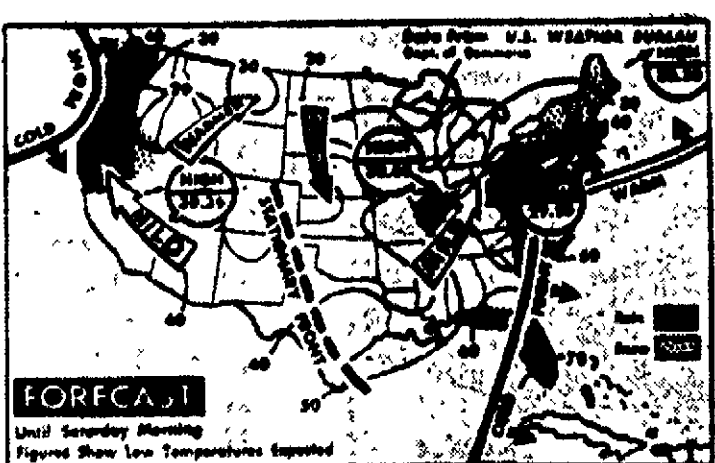

Waupaca — Elmer C. Hungerford, 30, route 2, Ogdensburg, was sentenced by County Judge Wendell McHenry to two years at Waupun state prison after Hungerford pleaded guilty of indecent exposure.

He was arrested by city police on the complaint of a juvenile girl Oct. 29.

Hungerford, who has received treatment as a sex deviate and who served time at Waupun for operating a vehicle without the owner's consent, was sentenced under repeater statutes.

Chicago Potatoes

Chicago — (U.S.D.A.) — Potatoes arrivals 66; on track 174; total U.S. shipments 602; supply light; demand for russets slow, market dull to slightly fair, market barely steady to slightly weaker; carlot track sales: Idaho russets 4.85-5.00; Minnesota North Dakota Red River Valley Pontiacs 2.55-2.85.

Occasional Rain Is Forecast for tonight for the east coast, Ohio valley and Tennessee valley with snow flurries in northern New England. Moderate rain is expected in the far northwest and northern California. Relatively mild weather is expected for both the east and west coasts with colder weather expected over the Mississippi valley, Gulf coast and central Plains. The Dakotas will have a little warmer temperatures.

All Planning Contracts in To Commission

Members of the Fox Valley Regional Planning commission executive committee met Thursday night to receive final signed contracts for Kenneth Schellie and Associates.

Kaukauna signed its contract Wednesday and completed the list of 11 member municipalities sharing costs for three years of planning by Schellie. The Indiana planner was fog-bound in Chicago and unable to attend. He is expected in Appleton today.

The committee also approved a resolution that Schellie's secretary would do clerical work for the commission on Schellie's time. Schellie will in turn bill the commission on an hourly basis for the work done.

Neenah's Mayor Bell questioned a technicality involving municipal fund raising to pay shares of the Schellie contract. Appleton appropriated its share for one year, he said. Neenah, on the other hand, had levied an irreparable tax for three years which would insure payment of its share of the contract.

Writer Studies Religion As Issue in 1960

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington — Supposing Sen. Kennedy runs ahead of all other aspirants for the Democratic presidential nomination and goes to the national convention with about 500 delegates' votes, and nevertheless is turned down, would this stir resentment among Catholics who might feel that the Massachusetts senator was being brushed aside because of his religion?

Sen. Kennedy is reported to have discussed the question in conferences with political leaders in Pittsburgh. He is known to have talked about it among friends in Washington. The story is that, if he is defeated in the primaries of various states, he will feel that such a decision would be on its merits — the greater popularity of other candidates.

One common misconception is that the pope at Rome would regulate the behavior of an American president who happened to be a Catholic. "Newsweek" published an article this week in which its Rome correspondent interviewed the Rev. William A. Van Roo, an American Jesuit who is professor of theology at the Pontifical Gregorian university in Rome. The text of the interview follows:

No Split Allegiance
Q. Would a Catholic in the United States presidency pose any problem to the church?
"A. No.

Q. How would the church construe the allegiance of an American Catholic president?
"A. The church would regard him as an American citizen and official, bound by a sacred duty to love and serve his country, and to uphold its laws in accordance with his conscience. This is a moral obligation on all citizens and officials, and there is nothing specifically Catholic involved. Furthermore, to answer what may be implicit in this question, the Catholic has no split allegiance, no dual citizenship.

Q. Would the church expect a Catholic president to take doctrine into consideration in his decisions?
"A. Taking 'doctrine' here to be religious moral teaching concerning the law of God, one must answer yes. A Catholic president, or any other president, must act in accordance with his conscience. For any man who has a religion, this means doing what he considers right according to the law of God.

Q. If there should be a conflict between the American public interest and church dogma, which would be considered paramount?
"A. The question seems to me ambiguous. I understand the conflict in the question to be one of conscience in the hypothetical American president. If this is the sense of the question, then I believe it involves a gratuitous assumption. There can be no such conflict of conscience in a Catholic or in any other religious man. Why? Let us understand 'dogma' here as the revealed moral law of God, proposed by the church. Secondly, let us suppose a society in which men sincerely differ concerning that law, interpreted differently by various churches.

Best Interest of Country
"Obviously, among such men there can be a sharp clash of opinion as to what is the real American public interest in a particular case. But any man, Catholic or not, must hold firmly that in doing right according to his conscience, he is serving the best interest of his country.

"Public debate and the democratic process take for granted such sincere differences of opinion. It would be absurd to identify one opinion with 'American public interest' and to insist that a Catholic opposing such an opinion for reasons of conscience is simply in conflict with American public interest.

"It would be unfair, undemocratic, and un-American to discriminate in such a way against Catholic freedom of conscience in American public life. Such discrimination may begin with the attempt to discredit and disqualify the Catholic candidate for high office. Carried to its logical consequences, it would attempt to exclude Catholics not merely from the presidency but from all public office, ultimately from the right to vote.

The so-called "Catholic issue" in politics is being widely discussed in America today — due largely to misconceptions that never would have an opportunity of being clarified if there were no public discussion such as is going on today among the voters.

On the House Charlie Presents Christmas Scene With Borrowed Words

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Many a fine writer has turned his hand to a description of Christmas and I have, for today, borrowed from some of them for various reasons. This, from the works of Alice Van Leer Carrick:

"How our three children have always adored winter, white winter with Christmas as the core of its heart; wide, glistening fields and pine-trimmed hills; gardens tucked away safe until spring, but where nonetheless, that magic rose of Noel might blossom; and all the little houses asleep under thick, smooth coverlets—coverlets made, you must understand, from the feathers that Frau Helde has shaken out of the wonderful sky.

"... Christmas is always a blessed both-er and bustle; wreaths to put in all the windows, and lovely, trailing greens to drape along the tall white mantels and to place over every picture. The mistletoe hangs on the cottage wall, sing Heigh-Ho, . . . and next we must trim our candles and set them in our small, paned windows, welcoming lights to guide the footsteps of the little Christ child. . . "

Beautiful Tree
From Hamlin Garland:

"As I write this there stands in my library a thick-branched, beautifully tapering tree covered with gold and purple apples of Hesperides, together with crystal ice points, green and yellow candles, clusters of gilded grapes, wreaths of metallic frost, and glittering angels swinging in ecstasy; but I doubt if my children will ever know the keen pleasure (that is almost pain) which came to my brother and me in those Christmas days when an orange was not a breakfast fruit but a basket of incense and of spice, a message from the sunlands of the south.

"That was our compensation—we brought to our Christmastime a keen appetite and empty hands. And the lesson of it all is, if we are seeking a lesson, it is better to give to those who want than to those for whom 'we ought to do something because they did something for us last year.'

"Of all the old festivals, that of Christmas awakens the strongest and most heartfelt associations. There is a tone of solemn and sacred feeling that blends with our conviviality and lifts the spirit to such a state of hallowed and elevated enjoyment. The services of the church about this season are extremely tender and inspiring. They dwell on the beautiful story of the origin of our faith, and the pastoral scenes which accompanied its announcement. . . I do not know a grander effect of music on the moral feelings, than to hear the full choir and the pealing organ performing a Christmas anthem in a cathedral, and filling every part of the vast pile with triumphant harmony."

Christmas Story
From Alexander Smith:

"... And the red-faced rustic congregation hung on the good man's voice as he spoke of the infant brought forth in a manger, of the shining angels that appeared in mid-air to the shepherds, of the miraculous star that took its station in the sky, and of the wise men who came from afar and laid their gifts of frankincense and myrrh at the feet of the child. With the story everyone was familiar, but on that day, and backed by the persuasive melody of the speaker's voice, it all seemed quite new. . . "

'Unspeakable Gift'
Pastor's Sermon Theme
Zittau — "God's Unspeakable Gift" will be the sermon theme of the Rev. V. A. Ganz, pastor, during communion services at 10:45 a.m. Sunday at the Immanuel Lutheran church here.

The congregation Christmas party will be at 8 p.m. Monday at the parish hall. The Luther league will have its Christmas party at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Sugar Bush Services
Sugar Bush — The Rev. Julius Mantufel, pastor, will discuss the theme, "Repent Ye, For the Kingdom of God is at Hand," during services at 9 a.m. Sunday at the Grace Lutheran church here and during communion services at 10:30 a.m. Sunday at the Emanuel Lutheran church, town of Maple Creek.
